

Chronicles of the Phoenix

Phoenix Rising:

Book 2

Transcendence.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

Copyright:

Terms and Conditions:

The purchaser of this book is subject to the condition that he/she shall in no way resell it, nor any part of it, nor make copies of it to distribute freely.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

To the one eyed dog.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

We cannot transcend the suffering matrix as a species unless we come to know who we truly are. We cannot know who we truly are in our experience unless we know who we have been, and the influences that we have allowed ourselves to be moulded by.

Interlude.

This piece of writing began in two thousand five. Previously I had written a book called Ambrosia. Whilst writing Ambrosia I received inspirational knowledge passed on to me by spiritual beings. Those spiritual beings helped me to understand and express spiritual truth through my actions, through the spoken word and written word. I have become aware that people in this realm and the realm beyond are co-creators with God.

Every time I think I have finally gotten a handle on the wonderful intricacies of God's creation something new comes along and rocks my world view again. For a few years I have been aware that God is quite able to communicate to me without the aid of anything or any being (many religions teaches us that to communicate with God we have to be a worthy recipient, that we are not worthy to receive the communication we desire.) I found out that the Great Spirit has been waiting to communicate with me directly all my life. He has and is waiting to communicate with everyone.

As a child I believed I was different in many ways (was I different? Are there many people which have been able to perceive and experience life in such depth?) I was able to think deeply, and have an intuitive knowledge of many things. Also, I was able to interpret this information through my spiritual senses. I could feel auras, and I could read and feel people's thoughts (if their minds were open). Sometimes these thoughts were very clear, and sometimes they were merely vague impressions. These great moments of perception and cognition, whilst many, were far fewer than the everyday "mundane" experiences of my life.

I sometimes witnessed events occurring in my mind's eye and then witnessed them a few minutes later. At other times the circumstances observed in my mind's eye occurred much later, even years later. Whilst experiencing one of these "seeing" episodes I also experienced a particular feeling, and it is this feeling which directs me to interpret the information in a particular way. These feelings are communications, communications from the deepest part of myself – the Christ self, which is the developed conscience.

The developed conscience is able to help interpret experiences of every sort, and ultimately it is the developed conscience which will guide us to the right path.

As a child I communicated with beings which existed in the spiritual sphere. There was so much information which passed to me at this time. I am pleased that I received the information that I received as it helped me to understand the experiences of my life. As I progressed and grew older I became aware that for each presence there was an emotional signature. These emotional signatures helped me to know who the individuals were, and helped me to know whether they were loving beings or otherwise.

Again, as a child I began to experience a feeling which was similar to the spiritual experiences of the past, but this time the beings offered me no information. Instead I received the persistent feeling of being watched. This new, subtly different and yet strangely similar feeling occurred to me frequently. At the time it bothered me a little. I asked the loving spirit beings that guided me through my life who these new beings were. The words "the watchers" was projected into my mind. Later on in my life I would receive knowledge from these beings, indeed within these pages are the communications which passed from them to me.

I was a child then. I needed time to grow and mature.

This book is about communication with other intelligences. It didn't start out that way. It started out as a conversation between myself and God. I believed in God, but I didn't know that God was able to communicate directly. We have been led to believe that God only communicates with particular individuals, and I too was under this misconception. I also came to believe that God communicated with people through the experiences of their lives, and also in many other different ways. This is of course is true, but it is only part of the truth. God is also able to communicate directly and without any vessels. The reason why He often uses vessels is simply because he enjoys giving others the opportunity to be able to co-create with him. Sometimes God wishes to communicate with us and wishes to express himself through other beings as well as the many happening in my life.

God lets others be a part of his continuous creation, he lets others be a part of his creativity. He allows others to participate with him in the experience of life (and people also allow God to participate in their lives, if they so choose). When this happens, the beings learn through the process and the recipient does too (or perhaps "remembers" is a more accurate term).

I have become aware that each individual belief system in this world is influenced by the majority's perception of what they consider to be true. In the past the majority of any society has had a massive influence over the individual mind. This is natural, but when the majority's perception is incorrect it can cause the individual's mind to err. It has been and is a struggle of immense proportions to maintain a creative response in the wake of the majority's easily led misconceptions of reality.

All subjects are connected to each other. There is no branch of study which is independent of another, each is interlinked and entwined within everything else.

Right from my earliest memory I have attempted to understand the true nature of the world around me. I have attempted to understand why things are the way they are. This is a great task, and difficult. It is a worthy pursuit, and things have become clearer.

This book is my communion with God. A communion with the God within, and with the many different aspects of God which exist within the heart of all sentient beings and within everything. It is also my journey of discovery and hopefully a journey that we can all travel together.

God has given humanity a piece of himself, and it is this piece that exists within us. It is the responsibility for each individual to awaken the spirit within, and to become consciously aware of ourselves and the true nature of who we have been (as individuals) and who were as a species. We have a task, and that task is to transform our reality. We cannot do this until we become fully aware of our past. When we have done this we should use this knowledge and power to free ourselves from the prison we have fashioned for ourselves.

We cannot transcend the suffering matrix unless we come to know who we truly are. We cannot create ourselves in our true image unless we recognise who we are as a species in this moment.

We cannot come to know we are in the now unless we know what has influenced in the past. In short, we must come to know who have been in order to transform who we are. We cannot do this unless we know our history. Until we come to know what has influenced us and what continues to influence us in the present we will always be locked into the suffering matrix. Everything we have been has been created by the choices we have made as a species. The consequences from those choices has led us to this moment. Things are definitely not as they should be. The first step for us to take is acknowledge this as a truth. When we have acknowledged this as a truth then we can begin to work on the solution.

It is important to understand that the first book is called "The phoenix rising" and it is a book which is primarily documents my communication with the Divine. It is a personal communication. From the outset it delves into questions that can make an individual feel uncomfortable. As it is a personal communication it was essential for me to ask the questions which were the most important questions, the ones which I did not know the answers.

You find me here, in these pages. This is my beginning. It may not be your beginning. I make no apologies for this. After it all, it is my communication with the Divine. If you desire a direct answer from the Divine then simply ask, and be very specific with your questions. Aim them at the Supreme Being and you will receive your answers. You are just as able as I am to receive and enter into a communication with the Divine.

I had travelled some way even before the beginning of this book. So in here you will find answers to advanced questions. If you seek the answers to more fundamental questions then this book may not be for you. I have written (or channelled) a book named Ambrosia. This book is useful for the beginning student. If you are able, I invite you also to read that book.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

Chronicles of the Phoenix

2005-12-14

Is there any advice that you can give me about my life?

Yes. Choose your questions carefully and ask specific questions if you want specific answers. Learn in your life and take notice of the things that you learn.

What is the best approach that I can take to violence and to negative threatening people and children?

Always take the path of least resistance. There is always within your mind ideas as to which action is the most appropriate in the circumstance that you find yourself in. Take the path that is easiest. One course of action should not be used in all violent excursions. Sometimes you must take the direct approach and face down your opponent, at other times you should walk away, and there are moments when diplomacy should be used. There is no right way and there is no wrong way when dealing with such situations. They are in essence very dynamic moments. It is best in such moments to remain relaxed and be prepared always to be decisive, and carry with you the understanding that life's circumstances are there to aid you and that you have the capacity to cope.

Thank you

You are most welcome.

Hello once again.

Hello it is good again to communicate with you. Is there a question that you would like to ask me?

Chronicles of the Phoenix

Yes there is indeed a question that I would like to ask you. Or rather, I am sure that I will be able to think up a question.

Allow me to ask you a question: Why do you not spend more time in my company? Why do you shy away from me as often as you can? Why do you talk to me more often than with me? Why do you leave our conversations to the last moments of the day?

2005-12-14

Will I ever be financially able to provide for myself and my children a descent lifestyle?

What do you think?

I think that I don't know. I think that if I did know I would not need to ask the question.

That is a very good answer. Here is my answer: unless you are prepared to make the best choices, the highest choices that you can possibly conceive of in any given moment, then and only then can you say without a doubt that you have not failed. If you have no regrets, and you have tried your hardest then you will know that your conscience is absolutely clear. To have a conscience that is clear is, in a very real sense, the highest goal that a person can attain.

Wow I didn't expect such an amazing answer, but it does make sense.

I am glad that you were able to understand.

I have noticed that I haven't answered your last question, the one that you asked me in the previous session.

Do so then.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

I don't know why I haven't spent time with you. Lately I have found it difficult to be by myself. I have found myself feeling reluctant to part company with others. I realise it is because I don't want to be alone.

You have become separate from me and because you have become separate from me you feel alone and seek company from others. You have been seeking the company of others because you don't want to feel the feeling of aloneness. You have been feeling alone because you have not asked for my company. Ask and I shall come to you. Ask and I shall be there for you always. The only barrier that is between you and I is the one that you place.

2005-12-17

And in response to the other question that you gave me Lord: I don't know why I shy away from you as often as I do.

Why did you not say hello to me then?

It is because I knew that you were there and had been there for quite a while with me.

Indeed, I am always there with you and have been there with you since the beginning, from the very moment that I brought you into existence. I have also been with you today as I have been with you yesterday and I will be there with you tomorrow. What I suppose (though of course I don't suppose anything because I am the only being that exists that is incapable of supposing anything whatsoever because I know everything. However because I am communicating to you in a very human way I shall, because of necessity, use words that another human might well use if they were also communicating with you. I am restricted by your capacity to understand. With another I might well use more elongated words and be able to express myself in a more refined way. I am always restricted by others limitations, which is, in a way, my biggest hurdle to jump when communicating.

As I was saying before I digressed. I suppose what you meant to say is: I didn't say hello to you Lord because to say hello to someone is to greet them and acknowledge them as having not been there previously and to acknowledge them as being there now. Though of course I also say hello to others because it is the polite thing to do, and by saying hello to them I give them a little of my respect, a respect that they didn't have before because I wasn't there.

You are quite right not to say hello to me then Craig because I know that you know that I am there and have been there since you let me back into your life the other night. So therefore you couldn't say hello to me because I hadn't left you. You have let me back in, and now you are aware of me and are able to communicate with me. The thing that I most want Craig is the one thing that is not within my power to have, and that is to be with you always, to be close to you, to be within your thoughts, to receive your love so that I might show you how much I know you and love you too. I say that it is not within my power because it is not within my power to do so. I truly cannot be with you unless you let me in. You can not feel my love unless you allow the love to gain access to your inner self. Considering that I am the only entity in existence that is absolutely incapable of hurting you, you would think that trusting me would be an altogether easy thing to do, and yet many go to considerable lengths to keep me out. Furthermore, there are many that allow strangers into their lives and do not pause to consider the harm that might come of it.

2006-01-02

Thanks for the great Christmas that you gave me and the Family and thanks for Louise too.

You are very welcome

I now know that you abide with me

Yes I know that you now know that I abide and that is very good.

Do you abide with all people?

If they'll let me.

2007-01-02

I really don't know where my life is leading to.

That is the way that it should be.

Yes, but everything seems so uncertain. Just when I think I have things sorted out everything shifts again.

There is one thing that is certain. Everything will turn out right in the end. My will cannot be thwarted, everything is working out as I have planned.

I don't even know that this conversation is real. That it isn't some trip that my mind has taken me on.

I could say that it isn't a mind trip but you wouldn't believe me. You have had an experience tonight yet you do not believe it. If you don't believe in your own experience how can you believe words that are written across the screen? As for the way things shift. Well, I like to keep you on your toes. That is the way things are with me. I am always bringing to you that which you most need, not what you think you most need, but what you actually need.

When you feel the experience the feeling of boredom, that experience is there to guide you to the next experience. Each experience leads you to another which further expands your mind, and widens the possibilities. Or rather, it widens your perceptions and with the expansion of your perceptions, then other possibilities are taken into consideration. Humanity has always tried to confine me, they have always tried to keep a lid on me. I do what I will and urge you to do the same. I help you to escape situations that are not spiritually helpful to you. It is through your own hands that I wish to bring change not through my own. There are times when I intercede and change the circumstances around you, sometimes I do this in a blatant way to remind you that I am there and watching and taking care of you always.

Thank you for my children they are magnificent.

That makes me smile. There is nothing more pleasing for me than the realisation in an individual that I am and always will be bringing to you the best possible events in your life. Yes I am smiling now, because nothing makes me smile more than when you are. In this we are alike. If you ever wanted to know whether or not some one knows me, then watch their face. If they smile a lot and you are able to feel their joy then you can be sure that they are a part of me – blissfulness approaches, you feel it sometimes. There will come a time when you will feel it always.

2009-12-07

Great Spirit I have lost a previous work and can't find it.

Indeed.

It was a very important piece of communication. Would you help me with it now, to bring it into being once again?

I am willing to do so. I was explaining in our previous communication (The one that is lost) that I am an alien. How do you like that? God saying that he is an alien? It is strange for you. I am other than you – in a way. The way that I experience everything that I am is the same as you experience who you are, except of course I do so to a different degree. Others have said that I am separate from you, and still others have said that I am connected to you. I am here to say that I am both separate and connected – I am you, and I am other, and I am everything... I am completely alien because I am infinite and you are finite. This is a natural division, though when we love each other all barriers are overcome and we become one. I love to love you, and when you send your love to me we love each other, and in those moments we are one – Infinite understand finite and finite understands infinite.

In the last communication you introduced me to extra terrestrials. Would you do so again so I could get the information again from them, that they gave me before?

I cannot do so because they are not in range of you. They are doing something elsewhere. I have in my memory what they communicated to you. Would you like me to communicate it to you?

Yes please.

You asked about the Tababacalasia, as to whether or not they are real. They answered in the affirmative. They also told you that the Tababacalasians communicate through the "Veil," that essentially they communicate from another realm of existence to others of your kin who exist in the earthly realm.

The Tababacalasia perished a long time ago. They were destroyed by an alien species that was far more advanced than they were technologically. The destruction wrought occurred within a short space of time. The reason for this destruction was because they had changed the genetic make-up of an underdeveloped species – they had changed humanity's genetic code, and altered the fabric of their being.

One thing that humanity must come to understand is that the Tababacalasia shared their DNA with humanity in a very direct way. They were highly developed technologically, and in every other branch of science. It must also be realised that the Tababacalasians are indigenous to this world, as are humans and every other creature of this planet in the past and future.

I brought you into contact with the alien species (a species which later will be regarded as the dream walkers) in order for there to be a communication. I like to allow others to take part in the unfoldment of creation. Instead of me telling you everything from my perspective, I am allowing others to speak to you from their perspectives. I like to involve everyone.

There is something else I would like to add: Everyone and everything is developing, and we are all dependent on each other to do so. It is through our combined experience and our mutual communication that we will be able to do so. I am working in everything and through everything, and you are all coming along for the ride.

They have passed on much communication to you, this species of alien that I have introduced to you. They are different to you, but through me you are now both linked. Through their love of me and through your love of me, and now through your love of me and each other you are able to progress. This is the way that all good relationships begin. You shall continue to communicate with each other but not today.

Understand that my continuous blessing is falling upon you and will always do so. I love you forever.

I love you too gracious Lord. It is a great privilege to be able to communicate with you in this way.

Indeed it is. It is a great privilege that I have the opportunity to be able to communicate with you also.

2009-12-09

Hello.

Hello.

Who is speaking please?

It is I/us. We speak as one.

I don't understand.

We are individuals, though when we choose to do so, we are able to speak with one voice – one will.

Who are you/all?

We are who we are, we are what we communicate, and we are our combined actions.

Are you the same species that talked to me the other night? I don't feel the same connection as the other night? In fact I doubt that I am speaking to others at all?

This is a normal reaction for a human to take. You are not used to communicating this way with others. I think that you need proof. Proof will come in time. The truth will come to you one piece at a time. Each piece will lead you to next. We are communicating to you through the combined efforts of many minds. We do this sometimes with a specific purpose is intended.

What specific purpose?

We are communicating in such a way to reveal to you that it is indeed possible for minds to join as one to achieve certain ends. This is an important piece of information because part of our mission at this time is to instruct humanity in the ways of the Tababacalasian. The Tababacalasians use this very same technique when influencing humans to do their will, though their communication passes through the "veil."

We also use this method to communicate with humans, though we do not manipulate or sow the seeds of fear. We simple ask and teach, and hopefully reveal the greater purpose of everything. We use a technique which allows us to merge with each other. Today we merged with each other and speak to you with one mind. One of the reasons why we do this is to lift your vibration. There is a great difference, between the Tababacalasia and us. They exist on a denser reality and we exist on a finer vibration of reality.

Thank you.

You have been very low. You have questioned your purpose in this world. We want you to know that we will aid you, and that we are pleased with you. You have accomplished much even though it seems to you that you have achieved very little. Sometimes it seems to you that you are de-evolving. When a plant begins to grow first it sends its roots deep within the earth. It seems to do nothing for a very long period of time, but it is at this stage of its growth when it is most active.

Within my mind's eye I can see something floating in space, it is something that has many shifting sides. Each side is like a mirror reflecting something that is in another part of the cosmos.

Our minds merged for a while then. You were thinking about God, and whether we experience God as you do. We experience the same being, and indeed He/She – the sublime presence is wonderful. The image that you perceived within your mind a moment ago is a memory of mine/ours. It is a singularity which exists in a particular point in the universe. We believe it to be God. It is not God in his completeness, but rather it is an aspect of God – a manifestation of God. It has been viewed by ourselves many times and has a physical form. In our humble opinion it is God – it is sublime and unique. In a universe that is constantly in motion, it is not. It is for this reason more than any other reason why we have concluded it is God.

You have questions?

Yes, there is so much I want to ask. You say that the Tababacalasia originate from Earth. Does Humanity come from the Earth?

Yes the Tababacalasian come from the Earth. It is likely that they evolved along the dinosaur time line, though it is not completely known. They viewed the crocodile as kin, they believed that the crocodile had reached the pinnacle of its evolution as had they. They may have also shared a direct relationship to the crocodile genetically, much like the many ape species are close genetically to humanity. They left the Earth and settled on another planet, then used that planet to expand their population and influence throughout the universe.

This idea will seem extra-ordinary at first, though as this communication continues, and as new experience meets new experience your mind will come to accept. There will be evidence, though to accept information blindly is not good. Humanity has done too much of that already. If you have come to accept that life after death is a reality, then why should this communication not be? There are many humans that believe that there is life on other planets, but what they must come to understand is that there is life, an abundance of life, throughout the universe and throughout the many different dimensions. We wish for you to re-examine all of your belief structures in the light of this new information.

Is the world approaching a new world order?

Yes humanity is approaching a new epoch. We believe that humanity will begin to create a utopia for itself. What type of utopia is the question and who for? Will it be for the minority or the majority and will it be good or bad. Will this Utopia also be for the animals or will the humanity still continue to believe that it is more important than any other creature?

Is it not set? Is there not one future that is more likely than another?

We believe that a future humanity will not feel the influence of the Tababacalasia as strongly as it has done in the past. We believe that even now their influence is waning.

What do your species call yourself?

We call ourselves the dream makers or Dream Walkers. We have not always called ourselves such. There was a time when we called ourselves “the sowers” or a name very similar to that in our language. We called ourselves this name because at that time, in a long distant past we noticed how we were able to detect and respond to thoughts from our own kind, and also communicate with other beings through the veil of dimensions and to a degree – the cosmos. It was in this way that we first stumbled upon other intelligent species on other planets.

Humanity shares a similar gift, but curiously the gift is stronger in some than it is for others. When our species was at a similar stage of evolution as humanity (though we did not have the same difficulties as humanity with inward and external aggression) we unified our minds and called into the universe and received a response. At first we were frightened, but then as our knowledge grew we began to accept those that communicated with us were friendly. Eventual these beings came to us.

Why do you call yourself the dream makers?

We make dreams come true. We sow the seeds for others to reap in their unconscious selves. When an individual acts on these dreams very often they create their dreams in the external lives. We are deep within the minds of many humans that would allow our perceptions of truth to combine with their own.

Thanks for talking with me this evening and early morning.

You are very welcome.

2009-12-11

Hello

Hello

Is there is anything that you are able to communicate with me that you would like to pass onto humanity.

No, not really. We don't need to communicate anything. We feel obliged to help humanity, though it is hard to do so because each individual has a different understanding of nearly everything. You are all so different. It is in this that you are so very different than us.

Although we are all different we agree on many things, particularly the larger concepts of self and consciousness. Humanity constantly attempts to express that which makes them so different from each other.

You can ask us anything though and we shall answer as honestly as possible within the means that are at our disposal.

Are “Aliens” communicating with others on this Earth? Are you the only “Aliens” working with humanity?

There are many different beings from various places from the cosmos that has and are helping in various ways. The communication that is being accomplished here and now is unique. Communications with humans has occurred between species in this very century and in the last.

Is there a species called: “Pleiadians?”

There is something which must be understood before continuing: Within your mind you must form a clear understanding of spiritual evolution. No being/s in this universe must disturb the evolution of another species. Earlier on we gave you the analogy of a plant. We likened your spiritual growth to the roots of a plant. Spiritual evolution and physical evolution is a sacred gift given by the creator to you the created. Your evolution is a great gift. Any attempts to accelerate or hinder growth causes the experienter/s to feel great pain, and creates a chain reaction that can take a large amount of time to put right. In short it hinders the being/s that attempt to slow up or accelerate the evolution of another species/individual as much as it does the species that is being accelerated. We are acutely aware of this and in no way wish to harm the recipient of this message. It would go against our purpose. Therefore we are limited to how much we can impart. The individual that is the conduit of these messages must be kept from delivering a message that would potentially hurt him and through him hurt others. You do not wish to impart harm nor do we. These written words are not the only means by which we are able to communicate at this time. We understand that they are a very poor means of communication. Words can only do so much. We have and will communicate to the recipient through dreams, and it is within the dream world that the main bulk of our communication will be sent.

We wish to guide you (the one who is initially receiving this communication) toward greater knowledge, and through you (and not only you) bring a greater understanding to humanity. But to treat knowledge as if it was something that was given and not earned causes suffering in the long term. That which requires no effort is not appreciated.

Billy Meier's claims to have been visited by a species called the Pleadians. He has claimed to not only been visited but has been taken away in their ships too. Is it not a large stretch of the imagination to consider that this is true?

I find it hard. I know that there is a God and I know that God communicates with me. He has communicated with me in many ways, and he has communicated with me as an individual being and then introduced me to you. This might all be a figment of my mind. It is all very well for me to believe in the aliens that call themselves "The dream makers" and that this is a real experience, but to pass knowledge onto others and present it as truth is taking this communication to another level. It is possible that this is all a product of my mind and, as a consequence, there is a possibility that what I write here might well harm others. I need to understand that these words are more than words, that they are indeed a communication and not simply a means by which my mind wishes to express beliefs and philosophies. I am annoyed that others have written books and have used the concept of "Aliens" or "God" as a means of establishing authority. To allow written work to be accepted by the majority because the majority believed that it was legitimate has already caused so much harm.

This is part of the reason why you have been chosen. You do not easily believe in things, and yet you have had experiences which have led you to a greater understanding of yourself and your fellow man/woman. Also, your understanding of the hearts of animals has been recognised by many to be considerable. You consider that you do not understand animals to any great degree because you haven't had much experience of many different animals, and this is both true and false.

You have experienced pets, and you have experienced the consciousness of pets. Your great love and your great mind have united and have come to truly understand those pets. In a previous life you have bonded with many animals, and communicated with the spirits of many animals. This is why we stated that your belief that you have known few animals was both correct and incorrect.

We have digressed a little but we wished to demonstrate how much we know you. Also, we wished to bring to you another piece of the evidence that your experiences are real. We have realised that you have reached a point in this communication where ideas which are contrary to your own have been presented to you. You have perimeters within your mind – there are things which you will accept and there are things that you will not accept, and also there will be things which you will come to accept with a little bit more time and evidence.

Whatever is said here will neither confirm nor deny what Billy Meier has stated, simply because words cannot do so. We explain and demonstrate in your awareness that truth is made up of a thousand dominoes. Each domino is a small communication or experience (is not experience itself merely the universe communicating and demonstrating His/Her's/It's Divine nature to an individual?) which reveals an aspect of truth, that forms a chain of small understandings which ends with one unified understanding. We will end this communication for now. There is so much that we wish to explain. There is so much which we would like to show you. We will wait for you to become comfortable with the knowledge that you have received.

God bless and keep you all of your days. From this moment onward understand that you are being guided towards your destination by invisible hands. These hands belong to a very wise and powerful being. We call him/her The Great Spirit. We leave you in his/her capable hands and hope that you sleep well.

Thank you for coming and communicating with me.

You are very welcome.

2009-12-13

I know that you have much to say, so I simply wish to stand aside and let you say it.

I understand what you mean. Do you notice that I say “I” instead of we? First contact is sometimes difficult. We have found it necessary to join our minds together to initiate the first few sessions. It strengthens the signal coming from us, and it allows us to detect the thoughts of the recipient in greater detail. We also do so to insure that the mind receiving our communication is not distressed in any way.

We have sensed your love recently and it is very much appreciated. As you well know each person's love is very individual and I feel privileged to receive such a bounty. You feel my presence now: I know this, and it is very good. It is my chance to give back a little of what I have received. Yes we are individuals, very much so. We join our minds often but we do not lose our individuality. We prize our individuality as much as each individual of humanity does. I come to you now without being linked to rest of my race. I come to communicate with you, to teach you the truths as I have come to understand them and to hopefully aid you with your evolution. I have received your love, and feel very privileged to have a chance to know you in an intimate way.

The truth is we are a very open race. We come to humanity offering our service freely and without prejudice. We come with open minds and open hearts. We do not disclose all of our knowledge within the space of a heartbeat. To do so would cause harm, it would be a very insensitive approach to communicate our truths in such a way.

There are many different perspectives of truth which I would like to express to you. I would like to draw your mind back to our recent discussion on Spiritual evolution and the very real harm that can come when one species attempt to increase or decrease the speed of any individual/s evolutionary progress. To allow my race some little pride, I feel it is fair to mention that we are very knowledgeable of social structures, and of human social structures and the social structures which other intelligent species have created throughout the cosmos.

You mentioned a person called Billy Meier's message and evidence. There are many people on this earth that have said similar statements. How is a human being able to decide truth from non truth? Or proof from non proof?

Others check evidence, photographs and film, and they check physical evidence to see whether it is real and then testify that it is so. Should this then be believed? If I was to tell you that everything that Billy Meier's says should be accepted as truth. What would your reasoning tell you? Please ask yourself: "How does this resonate within?" Indeed I ask you now? How does this resonate within?

I feel confused. I feel that it is untrue, but at the same time my thoughts and feelings tell me to remember the honesty on Billy Meier's face when he stated what had happened to him.

Yes I understand, perhaps others have spoke about what Billy has stated and are simply lying, or overlay their thoughts and ideas and claim them to be Billy's. When thinking about higher thoughts, beliefs and philosophies each individual has to accept responsibility for their own thought structures and the actions they do as a result. It makes no difference the source of the information. Rather, it is the choice of the recipient of that knowledge whether it is to be considered true in part or entirely. The human world is full of half truths, truths, untruths and lies. If someone believes an idea is truth, then it becomes the truth for them. If that idea is accepted by others it then becomes universally accepted as truth. When something becomes universally accepted as truth, it doesn't become truer because it is widely believed. The responsibility for believing something is with the communicated not the communicator.

Do you want me to state yes or no, and in doing so take away from you your evolutionary step?

I understand.

There is so much for you to understand, and to balance within your mind. This process cannot be accomplished in a moment. I am aware that there are already aspects of my understanding which has merged with your own. There is a path that you are walking along, and for a while I shall walk with you.

The future is hidden, it is a surprise.

I shall leave you with that thought and bid you pleasant dreams.

Thank you very much for your communication. It has been inspiring.

2009-12-19

Hello there.

Hello. Did you like the dream?

Yes. Wow. The dream came from the Dream Makers?

Yes. We do have means of communicating that our presence is real and not merely a figment of your imagination.

You are working with many of humanity then?

Yes. It is difficult to penetrate the fog of human reason, but there has been a lot of progress of late. It certainly does seem as if humanity is at the cusp of a new realisation. We have noticed that humanity has the habit of producing extremely wise evolved beings, but in the past they have been few. Perhaps, it would be more accurate to say, that the few that were able to receive great knowledge and had the potential to accomplish greater things were unable to do so because they were stricken with poverty. The majority of humanity is often lost in a fog of misunderstanding, and they are unable to stretch out their hands and grasp understanding simply because they are too busy trying to feed and clothe themselves and their children. We have been studying humanity for quite some time and believe we have some ideas which would be useful to communicate with you. We would like to present them to you, if we may?

That sounds like a wonderful idea.

We shall begin at a beginning. We do not say "the beginning" because every moment of time is preceded by an earlier episode.

I will begin with the Tababacalasia. The Tababacalasia were a race of beings descended from the dinosaur line (more akin to the crocodile perhaps) and occupied this world before humanity existed. Their civilisation grew larger until finally they became a space faring race. They began to colonise space and to travel widely and interacted with many different intelligent species.

At some point they returned to earth and manipulated humanity's gene sequence. They took an ape and changed it. They increased its capacity to think, to communicate and to manipulate objects. They needed more manual labour. They wanted to increase their capacity to gather/mine and produce but they didn't want to do it themselves. It wasn't cost effective (it is interesting that they too used a monetary system is it not?) They had a problem, they needed a work force. They needed to expand but were unable to do so. The way that they overcame this problem was to create humanity, and use them to do all the hard work.

They reasoned that it was a very equal relationship: they helped humanity to evolve, and in return humanity would work for the Tababacalasia. They believed/believe that they were the superior race, that they were pure. They reasoned that their willingness to share their gene code with an ape was extraordinarily generous, that the very idea that another species had the privilege of sharing their "divine fibre" gave them the right to do what they liked with this newly formed species. They created humanity in their likeness, and enslaved them to do their will – the will of the gods (I use the word "enslave" tentatively. It is also true to say that humanity, as it was then, freely chose to work alongside the Tababacalasia. Understand that the relationship between humanity and the Tababacalasia was very much a "master/slave" relationship, at least at first.)

Other evolved species watched and eventually interceded. It has to be understood that the Tababacalasia were a very powerful species, and were amongst the most technologically advanced in the region. They strove to accomplish superiority in every way, and did so simply because most species (ourselves included) had/have no intention of attempting to rule another species, and gave no thought to devising a means to do so, or preventing another species from doing so.

The Tababacalasians began to manipulate humanities gene code for a considerable amount of time. If the Tababacalasia had interfered with a species from another planet it wouldn't have gone unnoticed for long. The Tababacalasia home world (indeed any intelligent species home world) is left to them to take care of. It goes without saying, that if another species evolves on the home world, then the more advanced species is considered the caretaker of that species. After all, who better to take care of a newly formed species, than a species which shares genetic markers with the new species developing? It is not unheard of or discouraged for an evolved species of one planet to aid a second intelligent species of that same planet. It is reasoned, if a species has intelligence enough to not self destruct and intelligence enough to expand into the cosmos then it is probably spiritual enough to do so wisely.

This was the first great error.

Being ever mindful of humanities right to grow into certain pieces of information, it is better for some information to be transferred to individuals/humanity through the medium of experience. Whilst you read you are experiencing, you are experiencing your mind slowly attuning itself to a higher frequency; a gentler frequency, a frequency which is best able to receive clear and relevant communication. We also communicate through your dreams, though not only whilst you sleep, but through day dreams also. There are some that work on our frequency easily, subconsciously. But even they do so irregularly, they waver between frequencies. It is a shared condition of humanity at this time to shift whimsically through different frequencies of thought. For those who are truly willing we will aid.

To understand the part of you that is Tababacalasian is very difficult, but can be achieved through dedication and a willingness to listen to your spiritual nature. The spiritual nature exists at the nexus point within each individual. The spiritual nature is able to observe the Tababacalasian nature and tame it. This will not be accomplished over night, and takes extreme discipline across the span of life times. To this end humanity must aim.

For your information I shall explain briefly the Tababacalasian nature: The first thing to understand about the Tababacalasian nature is that it perceives itself through binocular vision and it is primal in nature. Eat or be eaten, master and slave – the right to power is given to the being that takes power. Strength is everything. Will is everything, but more than anything else, intelligence is prized. The Tababacalasian mind believes it is superior and takes any and every opportunity to demonstrate its superiority. It is rarely satisfied. The very idea that a Tababacalasian could become satisfied is abhorrent to any Tababacalasian. They define themselves by their appetites. Their wills are tempered through suffering. Indeed, suffering for a Tababacalasian is a great opportunity to understand ones role within the Tababacalasian society. The great shall dominate the weak. If the weak are not weak they shall inevitably rise up and destroy or manipulate the strong. The Tababacalasian individual will take any opportunity to expand their power and will automatically demoralise any one that strives to take away their power. Death is never to be feared, and is even embraced if the situation warrants it. The Tababacalasian will never surrender; a Tababacalasian would prefer death to surrender.

There is much more to be understood, the above paragraphs are meant to be a platform to build from. One must meditate on the self and learn to perceive the Tababacalasian nature within. You must know the enemy to defeat the enemy (an old Tababacalasian saying).

Thank you very much.

You are very welcome. You and I have much to discuss. I look forward to doing so.

Me too.

2009-12-20

Hi

You can feel it can't you?

Yes.

It is us. We are here. Hello.

Hello. I feel as if I can sense your ship. As if it is somehow hovering over my block of flats (at this point I had the feeling that Dreamwalkers wanted me to sit in my arm chair and meditate. I sat in the arm chair and gently fell asleep. As I slept I dreamt that I was asleep in my armchair and Louise (Louise is a friend of mine) was sitting opposite me. I floated off the chair onto something was soft, soft like balloons. I thought the balloons were going to break, but they didn't break. I continued to float over towards Louise. At some point I fought the experience and tried to bring myself awake. I awoke slowly try to vocalise the name "Louise.")

The communication that I received immediately after the experience was: "I used the image of Louise in order not to scare you."

That was a very interesting experience.

It was delightful to have you experience that with me. It is a good experience to be able to detach yourself from your physical body. I will continue to explore such experiences with you in the future.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

I will leave you for now. I am very pleased.

Sorry if I was not able to sustain the experience longer.

God bless you Craig and the horse you came in on.

That is funny. God bless you too. You are wonderful.

As are you.

2010-01-12

Hi there.

Hi

How are you?

I am as well as can be expected.

What is wrong?

A very dear friend has passed on to the world of spirit.

It is very sad when that happens.

He was/is a great teacher and friend. Death is the great liberator, the proof that all things change. We are different after the event. I miss him more than I thought I would. He will come back and talk to us, though it feels as if a part of me is missing.

Your relationship will continue to evolve and you will enjoy a greater depth of understanding of your friend, and your friend shall experience a greater connection to your inner self too.

Chronicles of the Phoenix

It is as you say. You are a great medium. You have true and wonderful insights for others, if they would but allow you to impart your knowledge to them.

You are gracious indeed.

Shall we proceed with the communication?

Yes that would be wonderful.

You had the dream the other night.

Yes I did. I didn't know what to make of it. The world was full of different alien space craft, different sizes and shapes. I noticed a huge space craft through the clouds in my dreams.

There is such a one. It is from this space craft that the smaller proceed from.

Is the space craft the dream makers' space craft?

Yes it is our space craft, but it is inhabited by other species. Other species occupy our space craft at times. In a way the Earth is under our jurisdiction. There is an agreement that we must be consulted before any species can do whatever it is they want to do within the vicinity of the planet that you call Earth. Many species consult us on Humanity, but also on the many different animals on the Earth. We catalogue the different creatures and regulate their comings and goings.

You are finding it hard to stay on this frequency at this time. Please come back at a later date. It is okay. Do not resist, simply come back at a later date.

2010-03-09

For me it has been a considerable amount of time that has passed.

For those who love each other, the moments spent apart are lengthy, no matter how much or how little time is between.

Here we are again.

Yea, it is nice to be with you again.

Yea.

I have been receiving information at random moments. Sometimes I receive information subconsciously as I go through my day. I assimilate the information slowly as the days turn to weeks.

You are a great information receiver. I feel that often you do yourself a disservice. You do not consider that you are of worth to us, to God or to creation. You are quite wrong. I do not speak for God, but to us you are very important indeed. We must emphasize this to you. You have witnessed the great one, the living Christ. Not many have witnessed as you have witnessed. It is a great privilege. He opened his heart to you. How do I know? Your soul has been touched by him, and it leaves its mark. It is in your aura. You are important to God and you are important to Emmanuel, this is self evident.

You may place your thoughts in these pages, when you learn something, when something has been assimilated correctly you may place your thoughts in these pages. If there are mistakes, I shall aid you with your conceptions and corrections.

There is so much to talk about, and we have so much time.

Yes, sometimes there is so much that passes through my mind, and there are other times, like now that my mind is blank. My mind has been filled with the story that I have been writing.

I understand. This is a wrong time for you. I sense this. Still I have come to give you a message. You are doing well, you are beginning to focus. The Spirit people are near, I sense them near. Everything is going very well indeed, or so I have been told. There is someone who is – hmm what is the word – there seems to be no word to express what this being is to me in human language. He is of the same species as me, he is respected by me, and I would say that he is an authority to me. except, the word authority does not exist in our society, or perhaps it does not have the same connotations as it does in your society. There are those whom are more experienced in certain aspects of life, and it is to this person whom I refer (I use the word “person” loosely because obviously he is not human.) Forgive me if I do not express my ideas clearly, but this person has been in communication with beings from a higher dimension, beings which control to one extend or another your souls growth, and they have expressed concern as to the amount of information we can express to you in one sitting, by using the means by which we are using.

Although I speak freely to you, there are some subjects which I have been told that are not to be communicated to you at this moment. This is okay, I am going through learning experiences too, and my growth is entwined with yours. You are a soul brother – our souls are similar, we grow together. We will be patient, and eager, yet also we shall move slowly and carefully. We will surely observe and learn each lesson.

Please write down all your thoughts and communications as they come into your mind, then as time passes I will come and we can learn the lessons together.

Amen and thank you very much.

Indeed, amen and God bless.

2010-03-14

To begin with, I have had thoughts or impression of extra terrestrials abducting and operating on me in the past, though not in the traditional sense, i.e. with a scalpel and anaesthetic but in some other way. Then again I think about how other people would receive these words, how they would laugh at them, believing them to be the ravings of a conspiracy theorist.

It wasn't so long ago that I considered the UFO phenomena to be unconnected with spiritual phenomena. I know that I have communicated with those on "the other side" and that communication with Spirit beings has been a part of my life for a very long time. I haven't thought of the "abduction" phenomena as being supernatural in anyway.

Often I have felt that the everyday spiritual communication that I receive, and the way that I perceive the universe cannot be shared with those that are surround me in my day to day life. There is something which has been on my mind a long time. Why am I so different? My mind, the way that I think, my senses, my understandings, my abilities (although many of them are maybe not active, but there are some abilities such as my telepathy which seems to set me apart from those around me, and which is used constantly to one extent or another. In the past I have seen the future (a little way into the future) and at this moment I cannot even remember what my other abilities are.

I have known things too. I have just known things are true. I have known when a girlfriend has cheated on me immediately. A few times in my life, I have been able to see what others see, it is as if I see through their eyes. What other abilities have I got? I can't fly, I can't even jump very high, but I do have the ability to be able to influence others considerably. I talk with so much authority sometimes, and people listen. I have been able to heal others in so many different ways.

In my mind now I hear the words: "I am Jericho." I believe that this being is the teacher of my previous Dreamwalker communicator.

¹*When the time is right communication is wrought – the communication comes to one, or many. Whoever is able to receive – we hear your thoughts, the universe can hear your thoughts – and as long as we are all on this cosmic frequency then we are able to share thoughts*

Sometimes individuals keep their thoughts to themselves. It is only right that individuals are able to keep certain thoughts private. For those who close their minds, and perhaps also their hearts – for those that allow merely a few in, then they remain bereft of knowledge. They have closed themselves down to the knowledge which is able to help them. This is why you are sometimes unable to share your thoughts with those around you. It is simply because those who would receive your knowledge have closed themselves off from you, and they have closed themselves off to the voice of their conscience.

It is the natural way of the universe, and with every denizen of the universe that is able to share thoughts. There is a frequency, a Divine frequency which allows for the sharing of thoughts, feelings and memories with each other.

When we tune into our own conscience correctly we also tune into the consciousness of the universe. We are able to hear each other's thoughts, and we are able to hear you if you are tuned in also. The universe calls to us as it calls to you. We operate on this frequency more efficiently than on any other frequency, and so do you.

The question as to whether or not we have "operated" on you is a question of how you define the word "operate". The short answer to that question is yes. We have and we do so with many people (and there are other species which help also.)

¹ This communicator was different than others. It had a subtly different frequency to it. I will designate the name: Jericho to this communicator. It is a high communicator, or rather, a more fuller communication than my previous communicator could give. Please note however, it is implicit opinion that the Dreamwalkers themselves, everyone of them are my favoured communicators, apart from the Divine him/herself.

A long time ago a race of beings called ¹Tarnasians (we shall call them this name for convenience of communication) destroyed a part of the time space continuum. This caused a temporal vortex to occur in a vicinity of space which was very near to your Earth. It was cataclysmic and caused many problems. It caused a dramatic shift in the polar axis of Earth, which in turn caused many different and rapid volatile weather changes. The earth eventually stabilised (with the help of a coalition of many different species helping it to do so.) It wasn't only the Earth that needed help. Humanity also needed help, but the problem that we faced with humanity could not be reversed or set right so easily. The very fabric of humanity's being had been altered completely and irrevocably.

Through many years of effort we were able to stabilise humanity's gene sequence. Unfortunately, humanity had been biochemically engineered to serve the Tababacalasions. Essentially, the Tababacalasions matured a species artificially and enslaved them by manipulating their gene code, but they did this over the course of thousands of years. It is difficult to express to humanity the amount of time which passed. The Tababacalasions experienced time differently than humans do (as do we). The developed species of this universe have discovered ways of prolonging their lives. The Tababacalasions were able to do so indefinitely. For them a hundred years was a short period of time.

A human being living in this present time believes the notion that beings could exist for thousands of years at a time to be preposterous. This will not be the case for long. Humanity will find ways soon of prolonging their lives past the hundred year mark and still be able to remain healthy and fit.

Over the course of thousands of years humanity changed, and became more wilful. This part of humanity's history is a little vague. We know that a part of humanity became fully incorporated into Tababacalasian society. There was a segment of humanity which had actively chosen to cooperate with the Tababacalasions and viewed themselves equal to the Tababacalasions, indeed they believed themselves to be Tababacalasions.

¹ Tarnasians are not to be confused with the Tababacalasions.

It was regarded throughout Tababacalasian society (at this particular point) that it wasn't genetic makeup alone that decided whether someone was Tababacalasian. Rather it was the philosophy and actions as well as genetic make-up of the individual which defined whether someone could be regarded as Tababacalasian. It was certainly regarded that some humans had risen to a higher "rank" in Tababacalasian society and were regarded in higher esteem than some of the pure blood kin. It is worth noting that this way of thinking was encouraged by the elite of the Tababacalasions because they wanted humanity to be willing tool in their hands, and to be (to a point) self governing. Understand that all of humanity regarded the elite of the Tababacalasions as gods. It was the case, that some regarded themselves "closer to the gods" than others (some humans regarded themselves as gods themselves).

After the Tababacalasions demise, humanity was left in a terrible state. We "The Dream makers" orchestrated a coalition of species to help humanity gain their humanity back. We came and were loathed to use any method of manipulation (hadn't humanity suffered enough?) We aided humanity as best we could. The Tarnasians wanted to destroy humanity simple because humanity was very similar to the Tababacalasions genetically. We wish to make it clear that the Tarnasians did not draw a distinction between the two species. We the dream walkers did, we argued for your survival as a species.

After the demise of the Tababacalasions and the rebalancing of humanity's gene code, as well as the stabilisation of the earth, humanity initially began to worship us. Who would blame them for doing so? It was part of their very being to worship. Their masters had disappeared. Why not re-establish another master or masters? It was not our intent to be worshipped in anyway.

With the help of many we eventually stabilised humanity enough so that we could distance ourselves from humanity's societies and civilisations.

Slowly we became forgotten, and finally we became myth. We remained, watching humanity's development through the ages, being ever mindful and careful not to interfere.

It must be understood that the Tababacalasians were masters of manipulating the gene sequence, and had placed many safe guards preventing others from doing the same. This was one of the reasons why we have stayed to help humanity. Time has passed and new difficulties, new anomalies in humanity's gene code have manifested. We help as best we can. We are helping to deal with the genetic mutations which manifest with each generation and generations to come. Mutations which occur because of the Tababacalasian manipulations eons ago.

This is why we "operate". We do so to help humanity keep their humanity. It is our great desire to allow humanity to have the same right as any other creature in the universe. We all have the right to be free. The right to create our own selves in the likeness of our own true selves. In short, the right to walk our own path, to create and recreate who we are. Every creature in the universe is able to fashion themselves from themselves. To be who they want to be and not simply the vehicle or vehicles of another's will.

Thank you for your communication today.

You are very welcome.

2010-03-15

I hope you are there.

We are here.

I don't really know what to ask.

Then hear me. You hear me with your mind, but you don't hear words. This is an important distinction.

There are many that would say that if an individual can actually hear words that are spoken (without a speaker) or hear words in the mind, then the "communications" are the product of an ill mind. This is why I don't communicate to you in such a way. It isn't the only reason. If I were to speak to you in your native language then I would have to translate, and with the translation there would be too much lost. Besides, it is an inferior method of communication. It is better for me to show you, by projecting my thoughts to your thoughts. Again, there are many humans that would scoff at such an idea, though there are fewer now than ever before.

You have explained sufficiently the limitations of the written word in "Ambrosia." It is obvious (to my mind) that true communication is only achieved through thought transference. Words simply allow one individual to sync their thoughts with another. Though I am using the written word at this moment, no understanding is being passed through the written word. The symbols which are written across the page simply allow the receiver to finely tune their own mind to the frequency of the sender or senders.

The species that I belong to (we who call ourselves the dream makers/dreamwalkers) do not use the written word, and although we have an ancient language that has been preserved, the language we use most often is not a language at all. Simply put, it is thought projection. Humanity uses the label "Telepathy". This word is inadequate in my estimation. It gives the impression that words are passed from mind to mind. This could not be further from the truth.

Humanity thinks of telepathy as being something that is learnt. Humanity has the capability to communicate through mind to mind, and uses this fundamental ability (as do animals) constantly in their daily lives. When we vocalise our words we create a vibration (or vibrations). The receiver listens to vocal sounds of the sender and then chooses to change frequency or otherwise. The energy that you call love moves from individual to individual and pours into the environment also, when this occurs communication becomes crystal clear.

Our history is also passed along this way, from mind to mind. It is preserved this way, and it remains constantly fresh, and is as clear as when it was first sent. A being experiences something, then passes the experience on, and is experienced by the receiver. The original experience is never polluted, it is preserved forever.

Thank you very much.

Thank you.

2010-04-28

I feel the communication sometimes. It comes upon me and then leaves me. I get different feelings. A feeling surrounds me, it makes me tingle, and my mind is filled with knowledge, and then a feeling of sureness surrounds me. But some things remain out of my reach. Everything always seems just out of my reach. It is like I am able to taste but not swallow (spiritually speaking).

2010-05

There's a lot of knowledge to be passed on from us to you. But it is not our purpose to simply pass on the knowledge. You must also understand that which is passed on.

Why?

Because you want to understand and because you are to explain and help others understand the knowledge that we bring. Though it is not simply knowledge which we bring. We also bring a new way of thinking, a new perspective. We bring truth and history. Humanity is on the brink of a new time period, a new evolutionary step.

I burn to know. I want to understand everything about the Tababacalasia. Though this worries me a little. Sometimes I feel that there is a devil in me waiting to climb out. I fight so strongly to keep this demon inside. It is a constant discipline. I think also of my life, my experiences, my gifts etc I know that I have done well spiritually, and that I have already achieved much, but how can these two forces exist within me? How can two sides of my being rise so strongly to the surface? Surely if I am good the good will swamp out the bad?

We do not know what it is like to be Human. We aren't. We don't feel the "other" side of your struggle. We are still attempting to understand the titanic struggle that humanity is undergoing and has undergone. Many species struggle, and have overcome almost incredible odds, but none perhaps have had the task of overcoming such inner turmoil as humanity.

We have studied the Human gene code, but scientific knowledge is not enough. It is rarely enough. There are other means at our disposal. There is an inner science, a mind science which is able to traverse time lines, and leap backward and even across dimensions in search of understanding. This process will be explained to humanity as humanity progresses. Though there is little we can do for humanity if humanity chooses collective to reject our influence. We are not here to harm you, though there are those of your kind that do not wish humanity to be free. They wish for a Utopia, as do we all – but they wish for it to be a Utopia of their choosing. They wish for themselves (the human remnant of the Tababacalasia) to be the human masters and the rest of humanity to be subservient to them. It isn't the minority of humanity which will determine whether or not this will be the case, rather it is the majority.

The majority have to continue to do nothing, and if they do so then this utopia for the few will happen. If the majority choose not to choose, the path of freedom with every thought and every action, then the minority (the Taba) will manipulate the majority, and the majority will be enslaved. The majority of humanity will allow themselves to be enslaved by the minority: The Taba.

If this happens we will be powerless to prevent it from not being so. How can we prevent it? If Humanity chooses to accept subservience then it would go against natural law to interfere. To do so would be to interfere with the evolution of a species. This we will not do. Let us hope humanity learns the lessons that the Tababacalasians refused to learn.

This is the agenda of the minority (the so called sub-species) – a subspecies which was created by the Tababacalasians to rule over humanity in their absence.

There was a time when a few were genetically engineered to rule, and the majority were to accept this as the natural way of being (at least, according the philosophy of the Taba). It has been surmised that the Tababacalasians foresaw their own demise, and in seeing their own demise created a contingency plan.

This minority is the contingency.

This minority which I call the Taba (at this moment in time) believe that they are entirely free to do their own will. They believe that they have a firm leash on their Tababacalasian brothers in the denser realm. Perhaps this group underestimates the Tababacalasians. The Taba believe that they have the Tababacalasians, the ones that exist in a denser reality, on a leash. To underestimate those in the denser reality is a mistake. To leash a Tababacalasian is like trying to leash a crocodile.

The Tababacalasians wish to inherit the Earth. They believe it is their destiny to do so, and not only the Earth but the Universe too. Ultimately they wish to create a host species. To be able to seat their being into the host indefinitely. For this to happen the host must freely choose to be the host.

We explain here the views of the Tababacalasians (human and non human) so that you may have knowledge of it. So that you can have all the information, in order for you to be equipped to make the decisions that is needed.

The gene sequence is buried in humanity, but for it to become active it needs to be chosen collectively by humanity. It is the sincere belief of the Tababacalasians that the purpose of humanity is to be enslaved by the Tababacalasians. That humanity has been blessed by being the first species to be enslaved by the Tababacalasians (according to their perspective: to be enslaved by a master race is a great privilege.)

You have, as an individual human, the ability to be able to choose to activate whatever part of your D.N.A that you wish. Every single person in the world is choosing. At this very moment each person is choosing who and why they are. We believe that humanity will join the rest of the cosmos as free beings, free from enslavement and willing and able to communicate and cohabit with every other species through the universe harmoniously.

2010-06

I cannot simple believe anything that my mind tells me is real. I cannot simply believe my dreams. This reality is perhaps a shadow of the reality to come, but it is the reality which I exist in and a reality which I share with those who I love, and I am loved by, and with the rest of humanity.

I need something more. This is something which I feel. But at the same time I feel that it is wrong to think this way. Things are unfolding as they should. However, to not ask is foolishness. By not actively seeking, asking and exploring I am perhaps allowing the world go by, or rather, my mission to go by.

You have a directive, you have written it within your own soul. You have been aware of us for a considerable amount of time. Indeed you have a mission. It is not for us to reveal your mission for you. Only you know what your mission is.

I wonder what my mission is. I know it is a Godly mission. I know it is my higher purpose. My higher purpose is to understand the way – the path; to walk the path, to teach the path, to reveal the path, at least as far as I am able too. My path is to understand myself and my roots. I need to know where I have come from. I need to know myself – who I am. Why do I seem so different? Why is it I see the world so differently than those around me? How is that I have been able to develop so many spiritual gifts? Philosophy – and understanding of why things work. I can see into the past, and have seen the future to some extent, telepathy, communication with the “other” side, empathy, healing, hypnosis (or should I call it mesmerism?) and many other gifts. How is it that I have them? What is going on?

Even for us there is mystery. God is a mystery to us. There is much that we understand, but there is still more to learn. The more you learn the less you understand. I can understand that. Give it time. I know that you feel that you are not getting anywhere. But we must be patient too. We want to rush a head, as do you. We know as well as you that we must be patient.

We are your kin, we are your spiritual brothers and sisters – we are family – we are our Father's/Mother's children. We are made from the same material. We are made from the stars, as are you. You are doing what you should be doing. You are enlightening others, sometimes whether they want it or not. You must be patient, do not worry, they will come to understand. Be tireless in your pursuits. You are holy, and you are on a holy mission. You will not stop and we will not stop. We are tireless, you are us and we are you, we are working together, we are fusing together. Thank you for your efforts, they are not in vain. But be patient, and do not rush to reveal the sacred truths to all. Ease back a bit. Do not squander the pearls.

Thank you.

2010-06

It is true I have been in a hurry. I know that patience is the way. Thank you for your understanding. My Christ to your Christ.

There is a secret history, a secret human/Tababacalasian history which has previously been hidden. Your hands have been tied, you couldn't aid because you felt that to help would be to interfere. I have been thinking, and I have turned my thoughts to our history, and the time that the Tababacalasia manipulated humanity. I think there is a frequency that can be tuned into, and it is on this frequency that information can be received.

I have been thinking that the Tababacalasia created a sub species within humanity, a group that would be able to govern the rest of us in the absence of the Tababacalasia. The more this sub group was able to run the day to day governing process, the better the Tababacalasia would be able to focus their efforts elsewhere. There would have been many groups, and each group would be responsible for a particular work effort. Some would be seen to be more worthy and receive benefits, each according to how able they were in fulfilling the directives which were passed onto them either by a Tababacalasian Master or Mistress, or human derivative.

The cataclysm occurred and with it the abrupt demise of the Tababacalasians. Then the dream makers as well as the many other enlightened species helped humanity gain as much as their humanity back as possible.

I wonder how long ago this took place. I wonder when the Tababacalasians perished, and I wonder when the tilting of the Earth occurred? I wonder: were the sub-species white? I wonder how quickly the Tababacalasians perished, how long did it take?

2010-06

Hello there, how are you today?

I am well thanks.

You are more than well. You are feeling really good.

You are God?

Yes.

You know what has been going through my mind these last few hours?

Yea

These are my power dreams. But I feel guilty for having them.

And you want me to remove your guilt?

Even if you would remove my guilt. How do I know whether this is good guilt or bad guilt?

What is the difference between good guilt and bad guilt?

Good guilt is when I have done something or I am thinking about doing something which is wrong, and that wrong doing will or has brought on negative consequences to those whom I love. The feelings of “good” guilt causes me to make adjustments to my thinking, and helps me choose to do right in the future. Either helping me to decide to not do the wrong thing, or perhaps it will help me heal the damage that I have already done. It reveals to me the right path, and discloses what the wrong path is. It helps me to decide which road to take in relation to the circumstances of my life.

The other guilt is the bad guilt. This is when I believe that a particular idea, or thoughts or set of beliefs are right but others think of them as wrong. Other thoughts can impress themselves on me and make me feel bad, confusing my mind. This is false guilt.

The conscience is the key to understanding truth, and it is the key to determining what is right and wrong. Reason also, but not reason alone. As for false guilt, false guilt is formed when the conscience is ignored.

Thank you, you have been very informative.

But you have a question for me. I am here to listen. As always.

In my life at a particular time I was living in a particular way and felt as near to happiness as I ever have. I lived alone and at that time (it was before I had children and it was before I embarked in a serious relationship) I enjoyed life, and then I became miserable when I entered into a relationship. What I mean to say is that I was happy and single, and then I entered into a long term relationship and had children and lost my independence. I don't regret my past but some of it was difficult. I haven't got a problem with anything in the past because I know that I learnt from my experiences. However, It seems that when I was selfish good things were happening to me, and then when I became unselfish a lot of very bad things happened (i.e. I lost my independence, and also became a kind of slave in a relationship which I didn't want to be in.)

Now that I am in a relationship with you I feel so much better about everything. Oh dear. I have just answered my own question. I went through all of that in order to seek and form a relationship with you?

Yes.

2010-06

I watch the television and connect with aspects of the programs. Within the programs there are snippets of information which reveal that the writers are aware of some of the truths which are revealed within these pages. It is as if the dream makers are influencing the producers and writers of these programmes. There are hidden messages planted through the programmes for those who understand the true nature of humanity. Aware people are expressing some great ideas through cartoons and films.

There are others that do so too, they influence the masses minds in ways which is clearly manipulative. The dream makers do not do this. They influence a human being to do a positive action, but it is done gently and with love. But are these messages from people who are influenced by the dream makers or are they influenced by the Tababacalasians?

Of course the Tababacalasians influence humans even today. There is a human branch of the Tababacalasians that have been influencing events. They have survived through the ages working through many different organisations. There are so many manipulations which could be implanted within the minds of viable human subjects, after all, each human being exists within a cage of their own making. We are struggling to be a free race, but there are so many ways for us to become ensnared. Why is humanity placed in this situation so many times? The reason is because we are a hybrid race?

Humanity would never have committed the atrocities that we know of throughout the ages if they had not been manipulated from the beginning. There are so many areas that need to be investigated, and so much information to be revealed.

There are some questions which must be asked: How can the information that has been revealed through these pages help me/us in the present? This is the most important question. There are other questions which are closely related to this first question. The people who have power in our society, that make the policies and decide what to do with our money. Just what impact are they having over our lives? And for how long have they been pulling the strings, aiding our self enslavement?

The British society bounces from a Labour government to a conservative government. Is this coincidence? Are they merely working with each other, manipulating society in co-operation? The Taba are manipulating the ones in power, whatever the political party is.

2010-06

Actually before I can move forward with the communication I need to have proof that all of this is real.

And you think that we are unable to provide this truth?

I think you are able.

We are able, and we will bring you your truth.

God bless.

God bless you too.

2010-07-09

I had a very strange dream last night. There were Extra Terrestrials in my dream. To remember a dream is something unusual for me. I don't dream often, but if I do dream the dreams usually fade from my mind as soon as I wake, if not before.

This dream was something different, it was incredibly lucid. Lucid is perhaps the wrong word. This dream was fully experienced. It was like I was there. The Extra Terrestrials were not the dream makers, they were quite different.

In the dream I met loads of E.Ts. At one point in the dream they sang. The sounds that they were making were very much like musical instruments. There were about twenty-five of them. Each E.T was making a different sound. The music that they created between them was slow. One would make a sound and then straight after another did, then another etc, and then the sounds, although beginning slowly, began to quicken – it became an amazing experience. So harmonious! I believe that they were creating the music as they progressed, and that they didn't know which way the music was going to progress. They made a sound with their lips, or with their vocal cords. One simple sound, then another made a sound, perhaps a different octave or pitch (I don't know enough about music to know the difference.) Then the sounds merged as the process became quicker.

All of them were men except one. She was the one that talked to me.

I was told something though, if it is true (as I believe it to be) then it changes how we perceive ourselves and our history.

These were her words: "Humanity conquered us when we were a log faring race."

This species is able to travel vast distances through space. This can only mean one thing. They are much more advanced than we are, as we are now. It can only mean that humanity was much more technologically advanced before.

Whilst I was dreaming I was receiving information. I believe the whole experience is a form of communication. I am sure of it. Somehow the dream makers were able to allow me to meet the new E.Ts without me actually meeting them. I don't understand it, but it feels right. For the first time in my life I felt ashamed to be human.

They were not as advanced as the dream makers. In many ways they were very much like us. They don't look like us, and their ways are very different, but they were physical beings. They eat (indeed, they put considerable effort showing me the importance food has in their society.) The dream is fading from my mind but there are still certain parts which have left an undeniable imprint on my mind.

They were very kindly, very loving beings.

There was so much information that was communicated. I felt things (feeling for me has always been my primary way of receiving information.) I was able to understand how they were feeling. I was also picking up their thoughts.

I am certain that humanity weren't merely slaves in the society of the Tababacalasians. I think we were willing participants. Yes, there were human workers (are there not in this time also) but there was also soldiers. I feel that humanity were the Tababacalasians weapon. The soldiers were the sub-species, they were genetically altered, and they were intelligent fighting machines, willing and able to deliver out their masters directives. Perhaps also the Tababacalasians were warriors too, but it is more than likely they were there to direct things. It may have been the case that their empire was vast indeed, and that they needed humanity's short life span, and ability to multiply in such vast numbers in order to expand. I don't know for sure. Also, the humans that were the weapons, they were willing, very willing to sacrifice their lives.

There was a moment on this space ship when I felt the tiniest bit apprehensive. I said something which could have been misconstrued. The males responded in a defensive way. They didn't respond physically. I felt their auras and thoughts, and at the time they were definitely feeling defensive. I think the knowledge of the period of time when humans conquered them is very uncomfortable for them.

Was humanity flying through space at that time? Is this all real?

2010/09 –

One of the main questions that I have been asking is this: What can we do about it? As I have been going through my day I have been receiving information, and thinking upon, then coming to the conclusion that it is in every single moment we are able to transform our existence. It is finding the means to do this which interests me. How are we able to transform our reality?

Event > Perception > Judgement > Experience > Reaction > Action > Consequence

There is an event. A person perceives the event. A person makes a judgement in regard to the event (i.e. good or bad) then the individual reacts to the event. An action is made in response, then the consequence occurs.

The action which is in regard to the event is the most important part of the cycle. The first thing to understand about an action is that it shapes the universe, it shapes the reality around us. To understand what an action is, a person has to understand what it is that creates the action.

The action:

Intention > Primary thought > experiential thought process > Action

Intention is the reason – why it all begins. Then comes the thought process – we imagine what we are going to actually do. Often we engage our emotions to facilitate the process, then we produce the action.

The action is a powerful event in itself. Sometimes an event can be a mental process: the individual has decided on a course of action and has already unleashed vast reservoirs of creative energy, but it isn't only the physical action (or actions) which unleashes the vast reservoirs of creative energy, it is the whole of process beginning with the intention. With every cycle of event, perception, judgement, reaction, action and consequence, the person can renew the energy which we use and redirect the energy. The energy is the dynamic power of God, the Great Spirit.

It is possible to make the action the event in itself. Sometimes a person makes an action, and then the action is perceived as the event itself. This is powerful indeed. The process can be repeated eternally. The individual has arrived and now perceives the moment, and every moment for what it truly is. We are here to experience primarily, and to learn, and to create and recreate every moment.

We can sometimes pause when we experience an event, and if it is our will to do so, we are able to postpone our judgement of the event. This is the creative moment, and it is within this moment that we are able to choose to act creatively. Also contained within this moment our hidden future resides. When we choose to act at this stage, and choose to not judge, we open ourselves to the true nature of the moment, and its teaching. After, we make a value judgement and decide who we are in regards to the event. This can be a useful tool if we want to understand the event. Also, it is possible to be able to creatively choose to act (and in the process of creative action we choose to ¹live).

We can use this process through the other stages too, particularly at the reaction stage! If we pause long enough and attempt to become an objective observer of ourselves we are able to notice our reactions (without judgements if we wish) and seek to understand the reason why we react the way we do, and then seek to transform our reactions into actions based upon the knowledge that we have required. Though to become an objective observer we must be aware that in every moment there is an opportunity to express who we are and transform the universe. Perhaps the only prayer we have need to ask is: Help me Great Spirit to perpetually live in the great moment, and be aware and use the creative moment and my creative energy to transform the reality around me into something which is mutually beneficial for me, for humanity and for every living creature. However, the Great Spirit is always doing this for every individual and in every moment. All we need to do is be thankful of this. Become aware of this truth and be thankful. Then project our love through our thoughts and actions.

2010-09-27

I am waiting for more evidence I guess. It seems that there is a frequency, and that I am able to tune into this frequency and able to receive information, and then able to verify the information through the communication with the Dream walkers.

¹ To live is not merely to exist, to live is to choose to choose in every moment, and to choose creatively.

2010-12-03

Hello.

Hello.

There seems to be a limit to what an individual can accomplish. The only way of accomplishing freedom is for everybody to choose to choose in every moment. Though how do convince people this is what they must do? Most do not even know they are being manipulated.

You are not alone. Others are attempting to free themselves from the grip of the Taba (a very good label for the human branch of the Tababacalasia) and others are trying to aid others to do the same.

There is no one around me able to understand. I seem alien to them, or so it seems. My words are lost on them. Sometimes I think they listen, and I do have friends. I don't mean to moan, I know I am blessed, but I just wish people could be a little bit more open.

However, what do I need to do next? This communication has ceased for quite some time, and I don't really know why.

Everything takes time. It is okay to send a message and for that message to be received. But is it understood? The message needs to be understood by you completely. Besides, we are not the only ones which wish to communicate with you. Your relatives on the other side needed to make contact, and we needed to allow them to do so. It would be selfish of us to "hog" you all to ourselves. Also you needed time to adjust to your Mother's passing, and then time again to communicate with her. Of course, she also needed time to adjust to a new state of being, and then needed to be taught how to communicate with you.

All of these things needed to occur before we came back to you, before we commenced our communication.

I understand.

In many ways it is a battle. The battle between light and darkness. There are indeed intelligences which are aiding and preventing the freedom of humanity. Light and darkness, heavy and light, wisdom and foolishness, power and powerlessness, right and wrong, all of these polar opposites are just that, they are opposites of each other. However, just as a coin has two sides and yet remains one object, also the universe is. There are many levels of understanding, and there are realities within realities. It is true that it is every sentient beings right to be able to define reality as it pleases. That which one creature determines to be good another believes to be bad.

There is a consensus, a shared perception held by many different species that war is bad and that peace is good. That love is beneficial and hate unbeneficial, that freedom is preferable as long as that freedom does not prevent others from expressing their freedom. It is always the majority which decides the fate, but if the few are able to manipulate the many into believing that they are choosing freedom, but are actuality choosing enslavement then the universe will simple give the majority what it wishes to experience. The majority chooses and experiences the creation. This reality has been the collective experience of humanity for a very long time. Each culture has been enslaving a part of itself in one way or another throughout humanity's history.

There is still much to understand. There has been a secret history, a hidden history. Humanity must learn its hidden history. How much humanity learns is up to humanity. Humanity can have all the knowledge and yet still be blind to it. You can all have all the knowledge in front of you, but it is up to you to un-cloud your mind and clearly perceive that which is there. Much of humanities history has been deliberately hidden by the Taba.

The truth has been squeezed between two lies. Humanity often has preferred to see the two lies instead of the truth. Or, they have taken more notice of the two lies rather than the truth. Always it is the case that the majority has given power to the few. The majority unwittingly create the universe around them. In the past humanity has wanted to be controlled, have wanted to be manipulated. Until humanity chooses universally not to accept this as a reality then it will not cease to be.

Easier said than done. Indeed it is so. Remember also, we do not condone the pain and suffering humanity inflicts upon itself. The opposite is true, we hate it. But we cannot change it. What right have we to do so? If humanity wishes to experience pain and suffering globally then who are we to interfere with humanity's collective will?

As soon as humanity chooses differently, as soon as humanity seeks a different way, then we will be here to guide. When the student is ready the master will appear. Look to yourself for the answers, look toward the God within you. You cannot trust anyone until you learn to trust yourself.

Heaven is in your midst. Heaven is now here. You all have the power to create heaven. All you need to do is join together and agree on the wisest noblest route to take. How do we gather people together and agree with each other on what is the noblest choice?

Let us explore this concept. What is nobility? What does it mean to be noble? Truth surely needs to be at the top of our list. Are we not the children of God? If we do not believe in God should we not choose to be noble? We can still choose to be noble. Choose to be the best we can be in every moment of our lives. The best way we are able to do this is to choose to choose in every moment. Change our reactions into actions, and be truthful and sincere. By doing the best for ourselves, without hurting others, or by choosing to cause less harm than good, by attempting to be the very best we can be!

If we all do this then the Taba will have no foothold within us. They will have no foothold in this reality.

This is what humanity must do. Though humanity can choose what it wishes to become. It can choose to do this or not to do this. It can follow its Tababacalasian heritage or choose to activate a considerably more ancient heritage. Locked within every being there is a phoenix, this phoenix is the blue print of the Divine. Secreted within the heart of our being, there is a spirit, indeed the greatest of spirits. It has been made in the image of the Supreme being.

It is this spirit, this phoenix which needs to rise and transform every other part into a being of light. It is this that is prophesied. This is the second coming.

2010-12-05

I have been thinking about many things. It seems to me that the Taba have had knowledge. Also, there is a possibility that they have managed to find or excavate ancient technology as well as maps and other such things. The knowledge and artefacts have allowed them to prosper and to be superior to the rest of humanity. I believe they have also kept a lot of knowledge of the past secret, in the hopes of maintaining power, not only to maintain power, but to also to be in a position to steer humanity where they wish humanity to go.

There seems to me that catastrophes have happened in the past, or perhaps many catastrophes. Through these calamities the Taba survived and maintained their superiority. Also, when thinking about the pharaohs and the ancient monuments it seems to me that the building of these monuments required the organisation of many people over an extensive amount of time. Also there was a requirement of knowledge to pass on from one generation to the next.

Did the Pharaohs believe that storing gold in their tombs would allow them to enjoy them in the afterlife? Did they convince their followers that there was an afterlife in order to exert a psychological control over them? Were the Tabat the Pharaohs? and did they manipulate the people to build these great pyramids in order to evolve their building techniques, and stratagems for organising and motivating people to accomplish great feats and then even greater feats? The Taba – the knowledge that they accrued was passed on to future generations of their kin. The Taba grew in power and numbers and travelled across the globe and built their own separate societies, each society in conflict against the other, yet still maintaining a cohesive whole.

This was done in order perfect their techniques, and fuel their ever creative means of devising methods of control. After all, to the conqueror the spoils. They would know who their true brothers and sisters were. After the wars were won they would know who was left. The greatest amongst them would rise ever upwards.

All the way down the generations, and it is still going on today. They are manipulating people to accomplish even greater goals, and yet humanity would be further along technologically and socially (and in every other way too) without the Taba. The Taba's first directive is to maintain control. Control must never be lost. This is one of the reasons why humanity has had so many setbacks. They have moved from country to country disrupting the power base of other civilisations.

Other societies may have been influenced by extra terrestrials. These societies may have found and learnt to activate ancient technologies which had been left over from Earth's ancient past. They may have used these technologies to create vast cities.

Whenever there has been a great development in one area and then a noticeable decrease, it is there that you will locate the influence of the Taba.

There was something going on in the dark ages, there was a moment when the phoenix rose up from the ashes. The Taba managed to regain control, but for a moment, they had actually lost power. I feel sure that there was an organised effort by a group of people to overthrow the Taba. They had gained a piece of technology which tilted the balance of power. Perhaps even, to some extent, they managed to understand some of the truth. The Taba preferred to destroy everything (everything except themselves) than to lose one iota of control. Perhaps this has happened at other times in the past.

2011-02-24

Are you there Lord? Hmmm, of course you are there. For me to even ask that question reflects the way my mind is at the moment.

Tell me how your mind is.

I keep getting, well it is as if brain is having a hard time taking information in. I have had this before, but it seems to be getting worse. I have thought that maybe I have been doing too much writing. I have relaxed for a while, taken a break from writing and it seems to be working. I have been more relaxed around Louise and the children. I find it hard to be around people sometimes, my mind is ticking through so many different things. People are talking about mundane things, and my brain is automatically clocking out from them. I think I have been doing too much, even now, from doing this amount of writing my head seems to be clocking out.

I don't know why it is.

After writing the above I got myself something to eat, and then did some writing. I guess I knew the answers to the questions above. You are often silent to encourage me to find my own answers. It is like you are saying with your silence: "You know the answers. You just need to look."

That is indeed what I am saying. I am within you and outside of you. Sometimes you have to search for me in all the right places. If you look for me in one place, and I am not there, then search elsewhere. Sometimes I am in a book, or in a sermon. Sometimes I am in a children's story or poem. I can be in every place, but you will never find me if you don't first find me within yourself. I am the perceiver and the perceived. You use the God within you to ascertain the God outside of you. The logical mind cannot perceive God simply because the logical mind is merely a tool of the greater self. The quite voice, the still voice – which is the conscience, but it is more than a mere conscience, it is the very authority of truth, it is the device by which we determine what is or isn't. No outside force, whatever it calls itself can tell any individual what is truth, there is no established authority which has ever had the authority to tell you who you are or more importantly who you are not.

You are learning about the great triangle, the great device. The human world has created this device. It is the great artifice, the great illusion. The human society is formed in the shape of a triangle and nearly all human social structures are. If you allow it, the great triangle will tell you who you are, what you are worth, how much you weigh, whether you weigh the right amount, what is or isn't the right amount and so on. If you let it, the great triangle will define every aspect of yourself, if you allow it to.

Shall I explain it? Shall I uncover it? For there to be a social structure which forms a triangle you must have a few resources. The great social triangle, for it to sustain itself needs to have very little of lots of different things, or the perception of a little of lots of different things. When something becomes rare it becomes valuable. It begins with real resources like food, water, shelter etc. Once these resources have been controlled they can be eked out to the population, depending of course as to whether or not the individual or nation is worthy enough to receive them (whether they toe the line.)

If a human society gained heaven, the first thing they would do is work out how they could limit the abundance. The problem with abundance is that you cannot control anything or anyone when the population has access to their very own abundance. The very essence of heaven means having abundance. Heaven itself is a place where there is an everlasting supply of everything, and that this everything can be received, enjoyed and (more importantly) appreciated eternally. The first thing that a Taba human earthly society would do if they gained heaven would be to try and work out how to prevent the flow of abundance. You cannot create the "great triangle" if there is abundance. Once you have control over the resources of a society then you have to convince the population that there had never been an abundance in the first place. Or if there had been, then that must have been in a long and distant past. Then you would have to convince them that even if there was an abundance they would not be worthy of it.

I have given a piece of heaven to humanity. On the planet that you have chosen to call Earth, there is an abundance of resources. In fact the Earth still has an abundance. The Taba, by manipulating and using the human race, has depleted the natural resource. They have used humanity to destroy much of the Earth's abundance. The Taba have created a system which is able to be used as a device to motivate people to deplete the natural precious resources. The air, the fish of the sea, the land, the animals, everything is depleted one bit at a time. Good people of every society on Earth have been used to continuously deplete everything. The rarer something becomes, the greater value it has, and therefore the greater the reward and control.

Your elite class is and has been doing this in order to create and maintain the great triangle – they call this grand scheme as the "great work." They have convinced the rest of humanity that there is a lack of everything. That is fast becoming the reality, yet even this is a social and perceptual false construct. They have created and propagated the perception of not enough-ness. The many believe it, then when the earth cries out in pain they come to the rescue with new solutions. Solutions at a price. Now the Taba comes to the rescue with plans of conservation. Now all they need is an economic disaster and they can squeeze the whole of humanity's perceptual reality. Humanity has been led out of the darkness by these control methods.

The "great triangle" offends me.

The Tababacalasian learnt the lesson of creation a long time ago. They understood why I created the physical reality. They understood that the purpose of life is creation. They also understand that I would not prevent them from creating anything.

They began to create.

I have not prevented any of their creations, or any human creative convention. But it is not the "elite" which will create this reality. This reality must come to exist within the minds of the majority. Thought begets action. It is through your combined thoughts, and it is your thoughts which create your belief constructs. You decide what is real and what is illusion. If you believe it to be so strongly, if your beliefs are strong enough you will align all of your actions to your beliefs.

Know this: there is no shortage of anything on the earth. The belief that there isn't enough is the first great illusion. There is enough of everything, especially of money.

Capitalism or any other system must serve everyone, if it doesn't then the people must use a system that works more efficiently, more economically. The purpose of any such system is to distribute wealth and power evenly to every individual. Humanity must realign its thought constructs to create a system which does just that. Economics? True economics is the act of distributing the resources of the planet, and to creating a system which stabilizes itself and perpetuates balance. If you have a society which uses more than it can recycle then it is not being economical in the slightest.

You are all responsible. The elitists are responsible for creating and maintaining such a system, and the people of the world (to varying degrees) are responsible for believing and actively accepting (and thus playing a part in the creation of and the recreation of it) of a system which is unfair, unjust, corrupt, violent, power hungry etc

And when confronted they will say: "we are on a learning curve." Indeed you all are, but each person/s lessons are different. Be not deceived – seek first the kingdom of God in all things, in everything, in each other, but primarily in yourself.

I love you God.

I love you Craig.

2011-02-27

I think of myself, of my difficulties and wonder: What have I done to deserve the experiences that I have in my life? I sometimes see myself as unfortunate. I look to others and witness their lives (admittedly I cannot be sure they are happy. They seem to be) and sometimes they judge me, they judge me because I am not working. I am out of work at the moment. I go for jobs but it all seems depressing to me. Every job I have ever had has paid poorly and has resulted in me not staying there long. I make the best of things, and I am grateful for the things that I do have, but sometimes I think: Why do I experience poverty and the disrespect of others?

I have had a bad day, I went to bed early (eleven o'clock) and slept till five, woke up, stayed up and then later in the day went back to sleep. I woke up at four in the afternoon, picked Courtney up and then visited my Mother. I didn't really get much to eat, so I have put my depression down to that. Then I started to think about the nature of the quest that I am on, and think: What about the unfortunate experiences that people are having across the world? They fit in the same category as mine, but different in degree, perhaps a lot different in degree. But what about them?

Sometimes I doubt everything. I also think: I feel guilty about doubting. Then I feel guilty about feeling guilty.

I don't know why I do. I know that you are real (but at times when I am feeling low I sometimes wonder if it is just me thinking incorrect things. Then I check my thinking and remember all the things that has happened to me, all of the spiritual experiences that I have had and then think: of course God exists!) I feel guilty about doubting you Lord, and then I feel that you will be displeased with me. There is a part of me that tells myself: Don't be silly, God wouldn't think you wrong to ask him anything, but then why do I get that feeling?

You have many questions, and all very good ones. Fundamental questions need fundamental answers, answers that make sense. Seek first the kingdom of God. This means: seek first me. What am I? I am truth. I am the embodiment of truth. I am noble. I am love. I shall stop there for a moment. Anyone that is not asking the questions that you are asking now are not asking the right questions.

Everyone has a different take on "what they should be doing in the world" and what is the right thing to do in the world. It is not down to me to tell you how you should live your life. It is not down to me to define right and wrong. If I were to do so, then I would be doing you and everyone else a disservice. I know that you already understand what I am saying. But there are different degrees to understanding, and therefore I find it necessary to tell you this in black and white. When words are written on paper they seem more concrete, the words which are spoken (or communicated telepathically) seem more whimsical; well, it is the collective experience of humanity that words are whimsical if they are not recorded.

If I was to state to humanity what exactly is right and wrong, then humanity would simply reinforce, and create the world in the image of that right and wrong. I already have a place like that, and it's called heaven. Yet, even heaven (which is the highest sphere of existence) has not been created solely by me. I could have done so easily, but I thought it a far nobler idea to allow others to share the experience of creation and co-creation.

As it is in heaven so shall it be on earth. I am attempting to co-create heaven here on earth, with you humans as the co-creators. You make it difficult to do so. You are forever finding ways to thwart my will, and your own. I stand by what I say: Humanity are the creators of the world. They are the creators and it is they who experience their creation. This is the way that I order things. You can make what you will but you have to experience that which you create.

The problem is: how is it that I create what I now experience? How is it that a child in another country experiences the hardships that they do?

There is nothing that a person experiences which has not been created by them. Others have called this karma. It is a good word to use, but sometimes the meaning of the word karma has been used and abused. Just like every other concept known to humanity.

The purpose of karma is to allow a living being to experience itself in its creation. The first thing you have to understand about the nature of reality: it is nothing in and of itself. There is nothing good or evil. You can be sure that if I thought a particular action was right or wrong then I would be the last being on the earth to tell you so. I am in a unique position: I am perfect and complete, and have ultimate knowledge. It is for this reason why I cannot tell you what to do or who to be. To do so would be the same as defining everything for you.

Definition is the first step of creation, and you cannot define something unless you make a judgement about it. Whoever told you: "Do not judge" was making a grave error, simply because if you do not judge then you do not define, and if you do not define then you do not create. However, when we judge ourselves not worthy to make a judgement on a thing, then immediately the wheels are in motion for the reality to come into being.

Rewind. The purpose of karma is to allow a person to experience what they create. In short, it allows them to experience self. When we hate our lives we are hating our creation and we are hating ourselves.

We are spirit. This is the true reality. We are spirit. We are spirit beings expressing ourselves through physical conduits. Many know this. Even more believe it to be true. More think it to be true, and some believe it not to be so because it hasn't been scientifically proven. There are many also that prefer not to think about such things, simply because to do so opens many other possibilities, possibilities which they would prefer to remain ignorant of.

My brief argument is that many people across the world believe that they are spirits inhabiting a physical body. The truly scientifically biased are few in number comparatively, and even amongst themselves they argue the existence of the spirit. Obviously, merely because a group of people are few in number doesn't mean that they are inaccurate with their beliefs (and they are beliefs, no less so than any other belief.) I am merely saying that the vast majority of humanity are the audience to whom I communicate to daily, and because of that communication they understand themselves to be first and foremost spirit.

Deep breath. Ok, we are spirit. We are seeking always to experience who we are, and then after we have experience it, we create again. This is primary purpose of karma. Not to punish the individual, not to release the imprisoned soul from the clutches of this earthly realm. The very thought that such a wealth could be contained by such a thing as the physical reality is ludicrous. There is only one thing that can contain a spirit, and that is itself. Convince a being that it is able to be trapped, and it will find a way to trap itself. You are all bound by your own minds. You are the architects of your own prison. You are the jailer and prisoner. You are the lock and key. The very belief that something is so, makes it so. We create that which we believe to be. If you are told you are less, and then choose to be less then you become less.

A soul does transmigrate. It does so to experience itself. It must. Is there anything more basic than this? When Nicodemus asks Jesus about transmigration of the soul does Jesus say no? No indeed not, Jesus speaks about the spiritual awakening that a person experiences when they come to know me. Which is a fundamental truth, and it is an absolute necessity to understand this, because to awaken to me, and thus to the true nature of reality is to awaken to all understanding. However, it is noticeable that Jesus does not say "no" to the reincarnation question. I find this an interesting text indeed, this part of the Bible. I am placing myself in the mindset of a Christian who reads the Bible and believes it to be as it seems to be, that believes that it is one hundred percent the word of God. Do you think that Jesus didn't know that his words would be passed on from person to person? Here was his chance to disclaim reincarnation finally, once and for all. I ask you again does he say no?

"Art thou a master of Israel and knowest not these things?" (John 3:10 King James Version) I take this from the accepted holy writings of the Bible to reveal to you that even within these writings the truth is there to be clearly seen. Why call him master of Israel? Israel was as large a place in those days as it ever was. Why call him Master of Israel?

It is because he is answering Nicodemus's question before he has even asked it, and by doing so demonstrates A) he knows Nicodemus's question before he asks it B) he knows that Nicodemus has been suspecting that he (Nicodemus) is the reincarnation of Moses, and C) answering him in such a way answers another of Nicodemus's questions: is he the messiah? By answering Nicodemus the way he did he answers all of Nicodemus's questions without confusing the issue of spiritual birth and without confusing the people who has been listening to him speak, and without revealing that Nicodemus was/is Moses, which would have caused quite a stir at the time. When Jesus says, "art thou a master of Israel and knowest not these things?" He answers with a question and by doing so he answers Nicodemus's question admirably. Trust your inner self, the Christ within. This is the answer that Jesus speaks. Trust yourself Nicodemus. You know it is true. That which you have always known in your heart of hearts, in your Christ, is the highest authority. I am here now to say that that each individual is the highest authority.

So, we are spirit, and we are able to transmigrate. Wait a minute. We are missing something fundamental. All truth is entwined, and knowledge is never ending. Jesus understood reincarnation and taught about it widely, and also, incidentally, taught many different truths explaining in great detail all the truths. They were written down too, in great detail and very clearly.

Where are they? Do you suppose for one moment that the Gospels that you read in your Bible are the entire teaching of Jesus? If they are then there aren't many of them. Do you think that Jesus (who some believe was me, God Almighty) would bother to walk the earth and not get everything written down that needed to be written down?

There are so many flaws in conventional reasoning. Clear flaws. I will propose that there were many writings, and these writings were left out of the Bible, that the Bible as it is today is considerably revised – a thousand times revised, and perhaps these revisions were made in the interests of some elitists that believed that some of the knowledge was to empowering for humanity. That it offered them to much insight, and too much potential empowerment.

I am here to say that there is no supposing at all. Large amounts were left out. However, not to worry. Do you think that my will can be thwarted? The words that are spoken are merely a device to bring other minds in synch with the one who is communicating. As you are reading the words, the real communication is occurring and travelling from me to you directly. Do you think that my communications to you could be hidden away in a locked room?

The Tababacalasians were unable to contain me, and their human equivalent are unable to do so. But you can contain me from yourself. The Tababacalasia know this, they know that I am uncontainable, but they know that there are many ways to manipulate the human mind and heart (creating authority is one of them. They establish authority in themselves, and by doing so encourage you to hand over the responsibility of decision making to them.)The Christ within is pure and can never be tainted. Listened to this part of yourself. It is important that every human become aware of their potential, and become aware that within them, at their centre, their individual Christ is. It is my gift to you. It is the Christ within, which is able to transmute and transform reality, and it is the Christ within which creates and recreates the self.

I hope this answers your question Craig. Do not think that for one moment I would wish any unpleasant thing to happen to you. This is not the case. Do not fear. Fear blocks the pathways by which I come to you. You will not fall. I will preserve you. I love you. You are as much a son to me as Jesus Christ is. I offer my hand to every human being on the planet, and to every being in the universe, and I offer the same gift, to the highest and lowest: Come to me, come be with me, walk with me, know me, laugh with me, cry with me, but most of all love me. Love me and you will know that I am here, and you will feel my love in return.

Thank you heavenly Father, thank you Great One. I love you.

2011-03-21

It is hard to know what to write. The thought that I have in my mind is: Centrifugal force. I have been thinking that there are usually two forces which act on each other, and balance each other out. I have been thinking that it happens in our economy and in every economy. That there is a need for businesses to create a produce, and there is a need to create it cheaply, but that if it is created too cheaply then people won't buy it. The business then needs to find a way to create the produce at a acceptable level, a level where people will choose to buy their brand. Therefore there are two forces which are in conflict with each other and eventually find their own natural state. It is the same when we buy things because we desire things, things which improve our quality of life, but if we can't afford them, and if more people can't afford them then it will force the businesses to drop the price, or spend money on more advertisement. I have been thinking that this is at the bases of our economy. Of course it is just a thought. But this makes me think that when things are in conflict then it is a good thing. I suppose it is a good thing if the two opposing forces find a happy medium where they can both coexist.

Is it the case that everything needs to find this place? It is an interesting thought, and it feels to be a true one. There is a part of me which is intuitive, but also there is a part of me which relies on logic, and I guess I use the two parts to be able to understand truth. It seems to me to be the case that the "Taba" need not be a force which needs be eradicated, but perhaps this is an incorrect thought. Perhaps we need to find a way to coexist. The "Taba" is constantly trying to reassert their power of us, and we are constantly trying to resist their manipulations. They are trying to push us into a place of enslavement, and we are constantly trying to avoid enslavement, or constantly trying to release ourselves from enslavement.

I can feel that you are guiding me, and I can feel you pointing me in the right direction. Thank you for that. There is no higher authority than me. To establish authority by saying that you said this, or he said this, or they said this, is to detract from a vital truth. The truth that there is no authority above our own authority. No one can tell us what is truth, or what isn't. It is up to us to decide.

It seems to me that we have a God within us (the Christ self) which can be turned toward truth, and there is truth outside of self (The Divine/The Supreme Spirit/God/Jehovah.)

2011-03-25

Life is difficulty, and it has been expressed in many writings that hardship helps the individual grow spiritually. It is true, there can be no doubt. The hardships are there to help you. You may grow bored of hearing such words, but spirituality was never meant to be an easy thing to achieve.

As you know I will not attempt to quicken the evolution of an individual, and neither should you. Do not try to force people to understand. Do not use the truth for a brutal purpose. Patience is the way, and gentleness too. Gravity eases the leaf to the soil, and gravity moves planets, galaxies, solar systems – crushes the mightiest of stars: all things are under my domain. I motion my hand and it becomes. I have orchestrated the material universe. I have brought it into being. I have measured the life span of everything. Everything is not entirely fixed, many things can be changed and re-arranged and extended.

Humanity has learnt so much. The second law of thermodynamics: everything moves toward entropy! How wonderful. You all have a problem. You have to sustain yourself. You have to maintain yourself and your environment. You have to continuously focus your mind and bend your will to the task of slowing your ultimate demise. Everything is moving from an organised state to a disorganised state. Oh my! What are we to do? We must create order, and it must be maintained. You don't want your house to fall down on your head!

A wonderful idea, and perhaps it is true. Perhaps the universe has been ordered in such a way to give you the ultimate challenge. Every individual is aware of the constant problem of entropy and must find wonderful ways to overcome the obstacles, and with the struggle comes growth.

You all will thank me for the hardships one day.

Yours truly, God.

2011-03-27

Once you asked me: "Allow me to ask you a question then: Why do you not spend more time in my company? Why do you shy away from me as often as you can? Why do you talk to me more often than with me? Why do you leave our conversations to the last moments of the day?"

"Why do you talk to me more often than with me?"

I have just noticed this piece of writing. I have an answer. I talk with you when you talk back. When you don't talk back I talk at you.

I like that answer. It is an answer which is honest according to your perception. I answer you always, but there are different reasons to why you perceive me not answering. Sometimes you have a decision to make and I choose to let you make it alone. I do so because I know that the decision is an important one and that you will use that decision to define yourself. You have come here to create, and you must create; YOU, not I. Sometimes you are not yourself, you have worked yourself into a frenzy. In those moments you are destroying yourself. I simply wait till you are yourself again. Then you come to me and I am here.

What do you mean I am not myself?

You are not yourself when you are being other than yourself. It is important to not be yourself sometimes. When you become yourself again you remember what it is like to not be yourself. When you remember you are strengthened and determined to be more yourself. Then you live your life with more purpose, and have more peace than ever before. To remember yourself you must forget yourself, and then in your forgotten self you recreate true self.

My ex is driving me crazy.

She drives herself crazy. She too forgets herself, and then remembers and recreates herself. We create and then destroy and then create again, we remember and then forget and then remember again. We built and then smash, we love and then hate. The polarities are important. You define yourself by using the polarities. If they were to be taken away, then you all would have no tools to be able to create and recreate who you are. Do not the stars even obey this? They are pushed away by one force, only to be pulled by another. That way they find their own natural orbit. You too must find your orbit.

2011-04-23

Sometimes I feel so much pain, and the pain disappears. Why is that?

You know already. You know what the difference is between knowing and not knowing. Faith and doubt are not two sides of the same coin, they live within each other and fuel each other. Doubt helps us in our search of truth. Faith does too. Pleasure and pain are there to aid us, to help grasp and utilise our truth. We must use truth in our lives, not horde it within our minds.

You have lived every day this week, truly lived. You have challenged yourself. You have done well. You have not allowed the external events to define you, and you haven't allowed your pain to stop you accomplishing what you need to do, and as you well know, your goal is to push yourself as much as you can. Consciously evolve, and that is what you are doing.

Also you have been writing and reading, which is great. I like the story of "Azrael."

I keep switching between stories, and it annoys me. I think that if I switch between stories all the time I will not be able to complete a story. If I have too many eggs in my basket I will not be able to finish any of it.

You are learning, each story teaches you something. You will finish them. Write Azrael every day, and occasionally open the other stories and do a little bit with them too. A story has a mind of its own. Push it, and ease the story forward.

2011-04-25

Are there short cuts through the universe, essentially worm holes? I think there were ancient aliens visiting earth and still are. I think they have visited me. I am so different than those around me.

So many questions that come to mind. Peru? Magnetic energy? Gate of the Gods? The Bermuda triangle? Geomancy?

I guess I like to communicate with you too. I love to feel your energy? I am so curious about the truth of the universe? About humanity, the truth of it. I have come far. There has definitely been experiences in my life which are legitimate experiences, legitimate evidence perceived by my mere mind. (or your great mind. Do we dare to be great!)

I have a feeling that there were ancient civilisations, that humanity worked with extra terrestrials. Then as humanity continued to evolve technologically, with the aid of the extra terrestrials, a segment within humanity were beginning to recreate the way things were when the Tababacalasia were here. Indeed they believe that they are the descendents of the Tababacalasians and so are essentially commencing with a plan which was being implemented so long ago. They are so persistent, so resilient.

There was another part of humanity, a wiser part which existed which believed in shaping their culture in the formation of a circle. The Taba believed that the natural way of structuring the humanity – socially (and in many other ways too) follows the construct of the triangle. The belief that this triangle expresses the natural strata of the universe, and the Taba are at the top of the strata. The greatest, the cleverest, the strongest will be few and the lesser will be many, the elite will rule of the rest.

The ¹watchers realised that perhaps they had made a mistake by helping humanity in the way that they had done. By providing teachings and technology they perhaps artificially speeded up the evolution of humanity. There was a part of humanity that had progressed well. What could be done with the part of humanity which had progressed well, that had used their knowledge and aided others with love and kindness?

¹ The watcher: the dream walkers – a particular kind of extra terrestrial.

They were sent away to another planet to evolve and continue as they were. The watchers then commenced to remove all the technology. A remnant were left on this earth, then as the generations passed by, we gradually lost the knowledge of how to use the technology, how to operate the technology (after all there was no technology to operate.)

A remnant of the remnant left here, on the earth, hated what had happened, they thought that they would finally be able to raise themselves up to the level they believed was their natural right to be. They preserved the knowledge which they had and passed it down through the generations. They passed their philosophy and history down through the ages too. They believe that they are, by virtue of their cleverness and strength the natural inheritors of the universe.

2011-05-01

I feel great. Life is amazing. I feel great. Thank you for my life. So much knowledge. It is difficult to know where to start.

Start always with the self. The self is the beginning all of things. Within the self I am. Don't apologise for who you are. For who you are now is not who you were, and it is not who you will be. You are always changing. There is nothing more damaging than for an individual or group to think of themselves as unchanging. Nothing "is", everything is in a constant state of change, in a state of being-ness. Some states of being were meant to be in-between states.

Then at a particular moment the individual thinks: "hey I kinda like it here," and so stays there. Nothing is written in stone, everything is subject to change. One thing becomes another.

Think of Jesus and his disciples. They were chosen, and they choose, but one decided that he wanted to do something else entirely. But here is the nub of it: nothing that any individual does changes the destiny of another. You merely choose, and the choices that you make determines how you play your part in the grand scheme of things. Without any doubt the outcome is always known, at least by me it is. I know what the intended outcome will ultimately be, and so therefore don't really care how people arrive at the destination.

Judas was always going to aid Jesus to an even greater state of being, one way or another. Jesus also aided Judas to his destination. Everything is written in the stars and everything is set down in concrete. Except it isn't. Nothing is set down. Judas did not help Jesus to his destination, and yet he did. Oh dear I am not making much sense am I? But I am. A person cannot help another unless the other allows it to be. That is the nub of it. Allow everything to be. That which we believe we become, that which we believe, is, until it isn't – until the being changes into something else. Who we are permeates into the universe and manifests – it is brought into being. If you believe that another person brings about an alteration in you, you are completely incorrect. Pack your bags go home and rethink your reality. You see, if you accept what another has said as being true, then whether or not it is true or otherwise is irrelevant. If you believe it to be you will make it your reality. It cannot be your ultimate reality, because quite simply the universe just doesn't work that way. The universe works the way that it was intended to work. If you believe something to be then it will be. It will become your reality. If others believe it to be too, then it becomes a shared reality, universally experienced. And this is happening because people believe it to be, and because they believe it to be then it is.

But it isn't. We are having fun aren't we. Can you see my smile? No? But I can see yours. Ultimate reality is unchanged, unaffected. It doesn't matter what you choose to experience. Whether that experience be shared or otherwise. Choose not to believe these words? You can if you like, and whatever the reality you choose to create and recreate is up to you.

I have found this to be true and have been practicing it daily. Every time my reality (the external reality) tells me, or I feel is causing me to feel less than awesome, then I look inward and affirm the true reality: and the true reality is that I am supreme, awesome, wonderful, magnificent, a great writer and wonderful communicator, and a powerful being capable of weaving reality around myself.

My reality has changed too. Okay, since the doctor has given me new tablets I have seen changes in myself. These changes have occurred and I feel wonderful.

You are the wielder of your destiny. You showed the doctor your distress. By doing so you was saying to the doctor: "help me! I wish to change the way that I experience life." You asked for help and you honestly expressed your anguish and your desire to experience a better way of being.

There is strange Divine dichotomy that exists within life that allows one thing to happen because another thing has happened first; The arrow of time (if you like). You have suffered for many years with a debilitating pain, and nothing changed. Then the desire for change became so strong you brought to yourself the means by which you could free yourself from your prison, your-self-made prison. You have to accept responsibility for your being. Full stop. You have to take responsibility for your power. The power that you are experiencing at this moment, and the power that is within your spirit. The power within your spirit is the ultimate power of the universe. You have the power to change reality itself, or rather your external reality. Just accept the reality that is within you. And if you cannot accept that then simply say to yourself over and over again what you desire to be.

Second thoughts, maybe you shouldn't. You would look a little crazy walking down the street mumbling to yourself: You could say it in your mind, and then wait till you alone and say it out loud. Why not? What's the worst that could happen? You could change the whole of your reality with a single thought. If it was a true thought. Really true. Accepting an external reality is enough to recreate it in your reality. Others have been taught that the external reality of not-enough-ness is real. The trick is to convince your inner self that your external reality (that which brings you the experience of not-enough-ness) is a lie. Your external reality, the perception of it fuels its recreation. By accepting it as real, as unchangeable, you create and recreate it.

Your external reality is simply that which others have envisioned, and you in your wonderful wisdom believed it and then it became your reality. Being ignorant, or simply trusting too much, by doing this, you have accepted the new version of reality as being true, and by accepting it, you make it true. When you accept something is true you add your creative energy to the mix." Your acceptance fuels the illusion and maintains it.

Start to see the true reality. The true reality is that you are the most powerful being in the universe, no less than any being other being in the universe.

Others seem to be more. They have done amazing things, truly extra ordinary things. Then there are others who seem to have done very little. Then there is me.

You are no less and no more than anyone else. Others have simply expressed and experienced more of themselves. Everyone is magnificent and truly great, they just haven't expressed their greatness yet.

2011-05-02

I have just read from a website: Osama bin Laden has just been killed. Also: David Cameron has been speaking from Downing street, saying the news would be welcomed across the country.

"It is, I believe, a massive step forward," he said. How is killing a man a massive step forward? That was the thought that I had.

In a word: Justice. He took the lives of 7/11 people? That is what is put out into society, that is the accepted view point. So it follows: if you kill the man that has killed "your people" then justice is done. Justice is essentially "the right thing to do." He has been thought of as the mastermind of the 7/11 plot. Now he is dead, threat over. Or at least nearer to a conclusive conclusion. In a word: Closure.

That is a nice and organised way of looking at it. It's like a movie isn't it?

I have been thinking along those lines. I am aware that in Hollywood (or where ever and whoever makes the films) that when a person writes a script they have to follow a certain way.

Exactly so. It needs to have a resolution. Then a person can say: "Well it is a nasty business, but justice prevailed." It does work like that too, sort of." In the grand scheme of things we will all eventually come to understand that all of events in our lives, and the way they unfolded, and the way they influence us, and the way we responded to them, and the way we created ourselves, and the way we change the world around us (according to our perception of events) – all of these things will find their natural resolution, eventually.

However, the destruction of a man is not good, ever. I created that man, and every man. Every human being is holy. I created every human being, and I am offended that another human being feels that something worthwhile has been achieved by killing another human being.

Correct me please Lord, if I am wrong. But are we learning lessons? I know I keep coming back to this, and I know we have covered this already. But maybe I didn't learn it properly. Are we learning, or do we know everything already? If there is an evolution going on, then I am learning, and if I am learning, then we are learning, and if we are all learning, then if you stepped in and told us everything then we would have no need to learn through our experience.

We all would like very much for everything to be neatly packaged and presented to us on a plate. Like a convenience meal, placed in the microwave, pre-killed and pre-packaged. For you everything must come easy. You lie down and expect everything to be done for you.

You wait for the ding.

You want me to treat you in the same way. You plead to me to intercede and give you money, to take you away from your enslavement. My answer is the same. Take yourself away from your own servile existence. Change the way that you perceive the world. If you choose to emotionally invest in the way that others treat you then do not be surprised if they bring you disappointment. Do not look to others to empower you. Look to yourself. Do not look to me. Look to yourself. Become completely empowered, and use your own soul, your own inner knowledge, and believe in it and allow the knowledge and the power that it brings to transform you and your reality.

Many of the answers that you require you already know, or rather you know what to do next. Most of the time you know what needs to be done, and you know what you have to do. When you are lost, you ask, and then when you ask, when you genuinely want to know the answer – it is there. The answer comes to you, and it is a simple answer. So simple in fact, that when the answer occurs you think: “wow, how did I miss it?”

There are many different ways of thinking about things. Each new way reveals to us a different aspect of reality, a different aspect of ourselves.

What do you mean a new aspect of myself?

We are on a journey of discovery, you are unfolding within you new aspects of self, and you are exploring the world around you and perceiving and understanding it in new ways. I am revealing to you and to everyone and everything. I am revealing myself, piece at a time. Each new discovery reveals a new way of looking at the universe, and with that new knowledge you intuitively understand that before it can be fully absorbed you will have to let go of past knowledge. You have to rearrange how you perceive yourself. A piece of enlightenment that you once had, the piece of enlightenment that guided you in the past may not necessarily apply now. Each new discovery reveals a new way of looking at the universe, and with that new knowledge you intuitively understand that before it can be fully absorbed you will have to let go of past knowledge.

You have to rearrange how you perceive yourself. A piece of enlightenment that you once had, the piece of enlightenment that guided you in the past may not necessarily apply in the present. The knowledge that was revealed to you in the past was presented to you in a way that you could understand. You are different now. You are wiser now. If you cling to the old way of looking at things then you will not be able to understand the new revelations. You will have to leave behind the old way before you can accept the new. You will have to leave behind the old way before you can accept the new. You will have to leave behind the old way before you can accept the new.

Did you notice then that I repeated myself? If you experience something over and over again, it very well be the case you have missed the lesson along the way.

You are in a place where you are unable to move forward unless you leave the past alone. You can say “no” but saying “no” will merely cause you to come back to the same point. You can say “no” for a millennium but no matter what you do, you will always be lead back to the same moment.

You want to get somewhere, but to get where you want to be, you have to transform yourself. You cannot “get there” and then by “getting there” change into a different person. No it doesn't work that way. First you change who you are, and then your life circumstances changes, then you will eventually "get there". When I say: change who you are. What I am saying is transform your external self into the image of your internal self. Acknowledge and accept your true self, and when you do so, the external self will manifest your internal self. I am showing you the truth bit by bit. I am showing you the truth in your individual lives, and pointing the way to an even greater truth. You are the most powerful being in the universe. You are the architect of your life. You are the creator. You are the healer.

Everyone is trying to create God's world, but you don't have to try. I have my world and no one can destroy it. Within the heavenly spheres everything is unperturbed, perfect and sublime. Heaven is perfect and will always be perfect, because heaven is made by a perfect fully realised self. Namely, me.

You are creating your own reality on the earth right now, and you are experiencing it. You are creating it in your own image. Many believe that when they create something, the experience of creation is finished by the action itself. Let me explain how it works: They believe that they have thoughts, and that these thoughts create actions. They believe that some actions create consequences and some don't. They are wrong. Every action creates consequence. The consequence ripple onward through time and is always experienced. Otherwise what would be the point of doing an action? The consequence of a thing is intricately and irrevocably linked to the action. In fact they are not linked: the action and the consequence are the same thing. Language divides the two things but it is language which is at fault. Action and consequence are two opposite ends of the same stick. What would be the point of making a soup and not be able to taste the soup? What would be the point of doing an action and not being able to experience the consequence?

Many believe that some consequences are bad and some are good, but consequences are neither good nor bad until you experience them. When you experience them you label them good or bad. Many even convince themselves that the bad consequences are not/have not/will not be experienced. They are like the little boy who is dangling from a church bell rope denying that he is the one ringing the bell. By disinheriting the consequence in the mind (or collective mind) they believe that they will not experience it. Without realising it their denial of the consequence is the biggest admission of the consequence. Denial is admission. Sometimes they say: "Oh well, I accept this way of being." They believe they are surrendering to the will of God but in fact they are surrendering to the act of continued denial of self.

Don't get me wrong. You create what you want to create. It's up to you. If that is what you want to do then fine, carry on.

That is why you are on the earth. You are all creating self, and creating the world in the image of yourself. There are two opposing factions, they are vying for the world and ability to have full power over each other. They respect each other, and share the same philosophy: To the victor the spoils. They believe that the battle between themselves is making them stronger. When one beats the other, they (when I say "they" – at least in this context, I mean those which are the Taba and those which are the majority of the human race which have bought into the idea that individuals can transform reality through violence) recognise the victory of the other and the right of the other to be at the top of the triangle (or hierarchy) and believe it to be the natural way of things. They will use everything and any tool, they will use every concept, whether it be the concept of capitalism, communism, religion or whatever seems useful at the time. Often they will take the fundamental beliefs of a people and then infiltrate the idea and group, then establish authority in some way (including using the name of God as a means of establishing authority) then they take away freedoms and security, and then come to the rescue with the promise that they will vanquish the enemy that has/is/will take away your freedom. Then they will stand back and watch others kill themselves in the name of whatever concept they are using at the time. They have their agenda, and their agenda is much larger than anything humanity has ever dreamt of. They want the world under their thumb and they are willing to wait. Why not? They have the time. Or have they?

When the time comes they (the Taba) will reveal to the world that extra terrestrials have been living with us for a long while and they have been hurting us. They have already been telling you through your fiction that extra terrestrials have been interfering with us for a long time.

Many books portray extra terrestrials as violent, and nearly every programme on the television portrays them in that way. It won't be hard to persuade the masses when the time comes. This is what they think, and they are right. If things do not change, this will be the case. This is the nub of it. They will probably say that the extra terrestrials want to take humanity's freedoms away in some way, and they will say that the people who have sacrificed themselves in the wars for freedom are crying out for us not to let "our" freedom go.

"Fight the extra terrestrials!"

They will use the tried and tested formula for manipulating the masses. They will make out that humanity is threatened in some manner. Then they will orchestrate a disaster. Then they will litter every channel with propaganda. It will call everyone to take drastic action – through the media they will orchestrate some kind of disaster, and whatever happens will be blamed on the extra terrestrials.

However, this will only happen if the Taba gets to point of global control. They haven't got global domination yet. These wars on earth are happening as an effort to collate the people and bring them together under one banner. The two sides have always been busy orchestrating the domination of the other, and using the innocent lives of trusting people through the millenniums to do so.

Do you want me to tell you that such and such country is the base of the Taba? What use would that do? It could be changed soon enough. The Taba is like a hydra, if you cut off one of its heads, it will grow back another two. People all over the world are becoming aware of the nature of manipulation. Surely humanity (and the Taba are a part of humanity too) are sick of all this not-enough-ness, of all this violence.

It has always been humanity's acceptance of the majorities' will which will bring about the universal experience of the people of the earth. Elite groups are supported by the Taba. If the elite groups goals are in alignment with the Taba goals then the Taba will empower the group. The Taba have infiltrated all groups successfully, all religions, all political parties in all countries. There are individuals which are placed in positions (the individuals are well funded too) in different countries. Some are dormant, and they are paid to achieve an ends.

Communism, capitalism, and all the other ideas are simply tools by which they manipulate the minds of humanity. The Taba need to understand that their way is not a good way of living. There is a better way, a much easier way. They are so convinced of their superiority. They are so convinced of their way of being. This is the central concept which needs to change. Did it serve the Tababacalasia all those years ago? No, it eradicated them from the material realm – a whole species! Please come to the understanding that domination and every kind of manipulation is ultimately self defeating.

This same enemy takes prominent positions in many different groups. They have been struggling for many millennia, they have been building societies up, and then moving to another area, bringing their knowledge with them. They then build again, perfecting their strategy, bringing themselves closer and closer to maximising their power. They have had failure, and they have learnt by their failures too. They are trying to bring about domination of everything. That is the massive undertaking they have set themselves. They know that if they dominate everything they would not be able to do so for very long. The people as a whole would stagnate. They also know that "the watchers" would not allow this to be.

The Taba believe the human race is the master race. However, everything is stratified. There are degrees of superiority, and ultimately the sacred geometry plays a part. The triangle, the triangular shape is manifest in every part of Taba society, with them at the top.

The few controlling the many, and the many doing the will of the few. Are the many doing the will of the few freely? The human race are allowing themselves to be manipulated. There is no way to avoid this conclusion. There are many which are choosing to allow themselves to be manipulated. There are many which simply watch the T.V, listen to the radio, read their books and magazines and allow others to decide what is true and false. They have substituted reality for a television show. When they do this they are allowing another to choose for them. They are doing so willingly. They have to be doing so willing otherwise certain effects that are taking place in the world at the moment would not be happening. Certain circumstances would not be affecting the human experience unless the majority have chosen to not choose. This is what you are experiencing. The reality that you experience and accept is the reality that you all are collectively creating.

– being creates reality.

I am confused as to what is "being." Is there a part of myself which is perfect, which understands everything, knows everything, experiences everything?

You are asking the tough questions, the really tough questions. There is a part of yourself which understands everything, knows everything, but it has hidden itself from itself. It has done so because it wishes to experience every part of itself. There is something that I would like to make clear. Where does it say that you cannot be two different things at the same time? Can you not be one thing and the complete opposite at the same time. Can you not be all knowing and not all knowing at the same time? Are you and I different beings? Or are we the same being divided against itself? Are we separate, two being which are merely linked together but not one being? It is hard for the human mind or any mind (other than my own) to think of itself not as one thing but many things, even opposite things, opposite parts of the same thing.

Am I existing in the same moment in many different times throughout time? For example: am I existing in the past right now. I know what I am saying, and I know that you know what I am saying. However, when I write the words they seem contradictory.

That is exactly right. They seem contradictory but in fact are not. Every "time" is running parallel to this time, and every moment exists simultaneously. Are there many of you existing at the same time in every time period? Yes and no. It depends on what you define as being you, and it depends on how you define time. I have a better question. What isn't you?

I think that I am me. My consciousness.

I like that. I like your answer. You no longer think of your body as being inherently you. There are so many that believe that their body is them. "I am fat, I am skinny, I am rich, I am tall, I am confident, I am a shallow person, I am humorous!" You ask a person to describe themselves and they describe their body! Or they say their name. "My name is Ruben and I am an alcoholic." What a way to describe yourself! What is the self? The body and name are transient things. You have defined yourself as your consciousness. I like that. The problem is, your consciousness shifts. You are more comfortable in my company than at other times. The way that your consciousness is at this moment is not the same way that your consciousness is at other times. Your consciousness is still your consciousness, it is always there. It's just sometimes your consciousness expands and sometimes it contracts.

This is strange is it not? It experiences itself whilst it is going through the process. Experiencing its essential dichotomy. Or rather, its sublime dichotomy. When your perceptions expand you become aware of how everything is connected. Then your consciousness expands again and you feel that everything and everything is you. Then it shrinks again and you become you, you as you know yourself. This changes too, as you grow older and as you become wiser. Your perceptions expand just a little, then they remain that way – they no longer shrink. Then it happens again and again.

I understand. It is a good explanation. Is there a part of myself which is all knowing. I mean that understands what it should be? That is being.

Discarnate and incarnate, left and right, up and down, unmanifest and manifest. Then there is the bit between: consciousness – the part that defines. The consciousness is the bridge between the two worlds. It is the decider, the controller and creator. It is being made manifest. Really it is all one magnanimous flux, one thing creating – the other creating the one thing, and the being decides what it wishes to keep and that which it wishes to be rid of, or place aside for the moment. Then it creates again and again. The higher self always knows itself. It is a good job it remembers who it really is. Individuals take things to a great extreme and often forget themselves.

Where does the Taba belong in all of this (If there is a Taba) and where do the extra terrestrials come into everything?

Everything that lies within the mind of an individual, or in the minds of individuals, whether it be one individual, or a million, or indeed a whole race of sentient beings. Everything must find expression. The races that exist on all the worlds throughout the cosmos, every sentient being is expressing their consciousness through their actions and then experiencing the consequence. Experiencing throughout the whole process. Forever experiencing. Everything needs to play itself out to the very end, and it needs to do so to know itself in its experience. Knowing is not enough, everything must know itself through experience.

Humanity is experiencing itself, and that is the way that it should be. Humanity has been given its teachers – great magnificent souls, great experiencers! Great experiencers that were able to maximise their experiences to the fullest extent.

You have been shown the opposite too. The Taba reveal an aspect of yourself that you can choose to express or reject (and you have already, a thousand thousand times). If it wasn't there then you would not be able to reject it. You would not be able to choose.

The many species on the many planets are mostly peaceful loving creatures. There are some that aren't, but they mostly keep themselves to themselves. Most sentient species exist peacefully and have always done so. This is the usual way of things. The human race is regarded as an anomaly. The Tababacalasia were regarded as an anomaly also. It is great that it is so. The human race was born in a midst of a thorn bush, they were born into bondage, and they are releasing themselves from bondage day by day, bit by bit.

Along time ago the Tababacalasia foresaw the possibility that the human race (it was before the human race was the human race) would become a great race, a great spiritual race of beings. They were jealous. (For I am a jealous god). They believed themselves to be a great race, and indeed they were. They became exceedingly prideful of their achievements. There are so many disciplines that the human race aren't even aware of yet. The Tababacalasia were masters of such sciences, and yet they were not satisfied. They searched for more, they pierced time and scanned the future, and perceived the human race rising to distinguish themselves, and then perceived humanity eclipsing them. The Tababacalasia waited for the human race to reach a level of evolution and then began to meddle with the fabric of their being.

So humanity was born to servitude. Where other races were born free humanity was not. There is an old piece of writing which tells a tale of a time before creation. It goes something like this:

In the beginning there was the creator God. He existed within the heavenly spheres, and his offspring were many. They loved the great being that created them all and were proud and everyone of them thought that everything that existed was goodly and wholesome.

Then one day a feminine spirit came to the throne of the creator God. She was renowned for wisdom and creative abilities. Indeed it was with her that the creator God created the entire physical universe.

"Can you not see my wonderful children?" He opened his hands and the whole of creation displayed itself. "Are they not splendid and a testament to the greatness of all things?"

She looked about her, features calm and sombre. "They are sublime, oh Great Spirit. They have known peace and splendour all their days, they have been born into splendour and holiness. I wonder." She pauses for a moment and glances upward, toward his countenance. "I wonder, would they be so great and splendid if they were born into the physical plane of existence? If they were born into servitude would they choose freedom? If there was a race of beings born through my womb (the physical reality) would they choose their Divine nature? If they were born to suffering they would not seek contentment. If they were born in darkness they would not choose light."

The Great Spirit often gave to his children responsibility, each one of them were given a task according to their capabilities. The dark queen, she was given the physical creation, and everything in-between.

The great Divine Spirit answered her mildly. "Your great wisdom serves you well. Let it be so. A race of beings will be born into servitude. They will know bondage and suffering. If they ask, they will be shown freedom. We shall see if they choose bondage over freedom. They will be born without knowing me, they will be born in darkness. However, if they call for me I will come. If they ask something of me I will answer. If they ask from the province of their spirit then I will come and show them the way."

This is a great creation myth, it is old and worthy. It attempts to tackle the question of pain and suffering, and the struggles of existence. How wonderful a story. It was brought about by meditative practices, and often performed – or a variation of the story, in front of large audiences. The Taba got rid of that truth, they vanquished it to the province of heraldry. They adopted the guise of Christianity, and asked everyone to give up their humanity. As for the extra terrestrials. They all have a part to play, and time enough to play it.

Thank you very much Great Spirit.

You are very welcome. You are getting closer and closer. You are moving in the right direction. You know that, you are aware of this in every fibre of your being.

Time is irrelevant to he who knows his time will come.

They (the Taba) have dominated, they have alienated, they are power mongering and use people to fight each other and gain control, expanding their power by using a variety of different means. Gaining control is not always the ultimate problem. Maintaining the control is the difficult part. Maintaining control over a large body of people and then extending that control. Motivating large bodies of people to produce many different phenomenon and then extending that control. Sometimes a project is undertaken, perhaps a large building is designed and constructed. The project is undertaken to utilise the expertise of the people and to test the extensiveness of their power. Perhaps a war is started to exercise and train people, to weaken the enemy and allow the next generation of Taba to implement and practice their skills. Each exercise is well documented, each of the experimental strategies is recorded. This is what the Taba do so well, they document everything. Across the generations everything is written down in minute detail.

Their time is coming to an end. All things are changing and are becoming different.

2011-05-20

So I find truth through the Christ within and through you, you and the Christ within are the same?

This is so.

I am looking at a piece of writing at the moment. I have found it on the internet. The extract that I am reading is of an old book. It is speaking about a particular person and goes on in a similar vein: “[...] to the Netherland, and as lieutenant of colonel Henry Cavendish, behaved with great valour in the action Rijmemam, near Mechlin, against John of Austria [...] Sir Richard was made governor of Connaught, and prominently distinguished himself, in conjunction with the Earl of Clanricharde, in subduing Thomas O’Rourke and the Irish Rebels.”

This piece of writing is establishing authority almost in every word, and it is describing the works of others, and in the process recognising other authorities. The writer is making himself out to be important by recognising another authority, who in turn salutes a still greater authority, which ultimately must be some form of royalty.

I find this interesting. It is following a train of thought. I am merely making an educated guess in stating that ultimately, royalty if it wishes to reinforce its authority must also herald to a higher authority, namely you.

This is where it must surely falter. If all men and women are equal then there cannot be an authority. How can there be? We are all amazingly unique, and are not less or better than another. To elevate another is to do them an injustice. One cannot elevate another without bestowing upon them power, and ultimately responsibility. For an individual to have this amount of power and responsibility must surely cause them to abuse their power. It is unwise for a person or persons to elevate another. It is unwise, it harms the individual who receives such a “privilege” and it harms the individual/s who gives it.

Are you higher than everything else? Are you holier?

I have an interesting question: Has anyone in the whole of history ever asked such a question? It is a magnificent question. The answer has to be no. I am no more holier than you. The perception that I am holier, or holiest is the foundation stone of the Abrahamic religions. Once the concept of “I am holiest” or “holier” is accepted, then authority is established. Who has the right to tell you what you should do? Who has the authority? It certainly isn’t me. And if I can’t then no one can.

Can a person be holier than you? No. A person can have a better understanding of him/herself and thus have a better understanding of me. They can remain close to me by being who they truly are – ultimately all concept of the human mind are inherently flawed, simply because they are finite. Certainly, any concept which is put to paper, or digitally perceived through the mind is diluted still. It has been established within these pages that words, whether they be spoken or written are merely tokens by which the giver of information and the receiver of information use and manipulate in order to transmit and receive thoughts. Until a better way is found this will continue to be the way for humanity to send and receive information. Another way will be developed, and continuously be redeveloped through the pages of time.

As I was saying I am not an authority. You are the authority. You are not in authority of another. You are only the authority of yourself. Having said this, it is necessary at this moment in humanity’s development for others to be representative of the general population. Here is an interesting thought: It is now possible that some decisions could be voted for at a live vote, electronically. Could direct democracy work on some decisions? Could some things be not open to a vote? Surely individuals should have some fundamental rights?

I shall talk about this at a later date.

However let this be understood: I have never sanctioned, or believed it to be a necessary evil for another life to be taken. Humanity needs to evolve socially. This is humanity's difficult task. There is great difficulties at the moment. The number of people in the world has increased, and with such a large number of people there comes problems.

Human beings are amazing. They have the potential for such greatness. The Taba know this. Make no mistake. They understand this. To manage humanity they must control how smart people are getting. They do this through the schools. "For goodness sake don't teach the children HOW to think," I think one of the Taba said. My goodness look at the amazing things the great thinkers have done in the past. Do I have to name them? I do not. Whichever area you care to look, there has and are master thinkers in that area. Understand this: You are capable of being as great and even greater than the greatest of them.

Humanity is a phoenix and the phoenix is rising.

It has been said that intelligence is an elastic band, and you can stretch it but you can't make it bigger than it already is. This is incorrect. The more you stretch the elastic band the bigger it will get. You can stretch it forever. The Taba have always struggled to control the minds of the many. Even they misunderstand the power of the human spirit.

The Taba have needed to dumb down the masses in the past. At other times, when they have felt that growth is necessary, they have opened more schools and encouraged learning. They have learned from the great minds. Of course they have! The masses have never become smarter than the Taba. Individuals have. Some by a long way, but the masses haven't. It is time to level the playing field.

The Taba have dumbed down the masses. At this very time they are smartening some (to an extent) and dumbing down others. It is possible to do. Though only if an individual allows it to happen. An individual, if he or she has the will, is able to extend their minds. There are ways of suffocating minds through torture, through abuse. To not give a mind what it needs to grow is a form of abuse. To not give a spirit what it needs to evolve is abuse. However, if a spirit wishes to be free, there is no force in this universe that cannot prevent it from being so.

It is not the Taba's responsibility to control the evolution of humanity.

Thank you Great Spirit.

You are welcome Craig. My equal. It is an extraordinary thought isn't it? No boundaries. A world without walls. A universe....

2011-05-22

People live with boundaries. Stark realities, firm boundaries. A known universe, an explained world – a firm evolutionary past. They will say that this piece of writing is fantastical. That I have been watching to many sci-fi programmes.

I have an answer for this: the author of the many science fiction programmes, books etc have tapped into the past somehow. What could they do with this knowledge? How could they express this knowledge? The only acceptable way they could express the idea is through their art. Whatever that art may be.

Perhaps the past is encoded within our genes. Or perhaps the memory of things is communicated as I receive communications, namely through my mind. It is also possible that some stories/memories are passed through the "veil."

2011-05-23

I guess it comes back to authority. So you are not an authority? So I am an authority? I am an authority for me? How do I know what is true? I have been thinking about it. My thoughts: I need something to show what is true. When I think in this way I am relying on an external reality to tell me what is true or false. However, if I turn my attention to within, and search there – for the feeling ... not only feeling but also reasoning, and also perhaps a sign in my external reality. Not only through one passage way does the truth come to me, but in a thousand different pathways.

2011-05-27

I have been thinking about authority. Here is a definition:

1. the power to determine, adjudicate, or otherwise settle issues or disputes; jurisdiction; the right to control, command, or determine.

2. A power or right delegated or given; authorization: Who has the authority to grant permission?

3. A person or body of persons in whom authority is vested, as a governmental agency.

Be right with God and man; this was the thought I had today.

What do you think ?

I think that is a good idea. Obviously you have to be right with yourself, but to be right with your inner being you have to be right with your highest ideals. Your ultimate goals, yourself – your idea of who you are. Then you will be right with yourself. To be right with yourself is to be right with God. Though, sometimes to be right with yourself you have to go against what you have believed, what has been instilled within you since birth, what has been taught to you by those you love. To be right with yourself sometimes you have to be wrong with yourself. Live with being wrong with yourself, go against everything you believe, and then reap from that way of being.

Reap, reap and then reap some more – experience. When you have walked the path of wrongness you can walk the path of truth. Did not Paul walk a wrongful life and then change?

As for being “right with Man,” perhaps that means being right with the greater consciousness of the society that you live in. Pay your taxes, work hard, live right , and be healthy. If you find the society to be lacking, to be wrong, then work to achieve a greater understanding of that lack, then fix it. Bring people together and share ideas until you come to a universal revised idea of how things should be. Then live it – together. Be right with self (which will automatically put you right with me) then live and reap the benefits of the changes you have wrought. Or perhaps your children will reap that which you sow or do not sow in the future.

2011-06-08

Hello.

Hi.

Who am I speaking with? The vibration is new.

It will take time to establish this connection. I am Joshua.

I am having difficulty picking you up.

Understand this. The more we work together the easier it will become. You are here for a purpose. Indeed. I have been witnessing the communications that you have established with the extra terrestrials. I am pleased, but the progress is slow.

It feels slow to me too. I am frustrated with myself. I feel that I have a great work to accomplish, and I am aware of the flow of time. Time is like sand slipping through my fingers.

More work shall be accomplished. A greater understanding will unfold.

You are extra terrestrial and inter-dimensional?

Indeed. There are many intelligences in the multi – verse. There are places of learning. Beings come together to gain a better understanding of how things work, and a better communication.

I am an intelligence, a being that does not hail from your realm. Communication is difficult. We must continue to communicate, and strive for a greater communication. This is our task.

I am picking up a communication and it is being transmitted into my mind. It will be hard to translate it to the page.

It is the task that must be accomplished.

You have communicated to humanity at a previous time. You have been known as Khidr. Is this correct?

It is correct to say so.

Are you one? As I am one, or are you a combined intelligence?

Many intelligences from your universe are able to merge with others of the same species in order to be of “one will.” Those who are named “the dreamwalkers” have alleviated their consciousness and have transcended the physical universe. They are able to travel through other “layers” of the universe. They are accomplished beings and often merge their consciousness.

I am singular, as are you. You may know and understand this. Every being is able to merge with others of their kin. There are some beings who are progressed. The greater the progression of their being, the easier it is for the individual to merge with others, even others who are considerably different.

I do not hail from your realm. The communication that is taking place now is not a clear communication. Much is lost whilst communicating. Enough is made manifest. I spoke with persons from humanity’s past. They were considered and still are considered great personages. Many are forgotten, some are remembered through literature. Their names have changed. Some have been wilfully changed. Some have changed simply because it is the way of things in the Earthly realm. I spoke with Moses but the name of Moses meant something different then, it had a different meaning.

Time is miss–understood by humanity at this moment. The way of time. Words are insufficient. Each person that reads spiritual writings must do so with a spiritual mind. They then will be guided to the right understanding. With this in mind you will come to understand that the concepts accepted now, and the terminology used will change as your spiritual consciousness changes, as your understanding evolves.

Time – understand that humanity is indeed a race that has amnesia. This is a good way of describing humanity’s way of being. Humanity, in ancient time was genetically changed across the span of many millennia by those who are called the Tababacalasia; changed, and interfered with. The dream walkers and kin has helped place humanity’s future in their own hands. Much has already spoken about this.

When one looks to the spiritual books, the events taken place seem to take place together i.e Moses from Egypt, and the plight of the Israelites. This is not how these things occurred. Humanity has had many plights, in ancient times.

Being aware and considerate of humanity's right to work out their own identity and destiny. I shall offer some ideas to mull over.

Moses and the plight of the Jewish nation – this was one significant historic moment.

The Israelites travelling through the desert. The events did not happen near each other. These events did not even occur within the same millennia.

The piece of writing in Genesis which describes the garden of Eden is largely symbolic. The God that walks through the garden may be understood on one level as the Tababacalasian race. Adam and Eve are the human race. The rib episode is simply genetic manipulation – which occurred across many millennia.

Snake and staff – go and do some research.

I shall continue with this way of communication. To long has humanity been simply given information and asked to accept, believe and act on this information. Think upon it – creatively think about it. The staff with the snake wrapped around it. This is an interesting symbol indeed. By humanity's standards it is an ancient symbol.

2011-06-08

You are with me Joshua. I know.

Indeed. I am with you. God is with you. There are people in the world that believe that there is good and evil. There is something within us that encourages us to maintain balance, and to do that which is good. The centre of our being brings us to enlightenment, wisdom encompassing love – touching every soul.

The sunken ones influence humanity, influence their human counterpart/s. I influence you. I have travelled through the multi – verse, through the realms. I come from a universe which predates your own. Words fail. We must continue.

A sphere – this needs to be drawn. Finer vibrations emanate from the top of this sphere. Layers, fine layers one after the other, beginning at the top and running throughout the sphere – three dimensional. Then run horizontal lines through the whole of the sphere. Each time the lines cross, there is a crossing point.

Now picture another sphere. By the side of the first sphere. Now picture the second sphere overlapping the first. You are that sphere and I am the other sphere. This is how we communicate now. Realisation.

Realisation. Deconstructing the world and then reassembling it. Deconstructing self and reassembling self. Space and time. Here and now. Then and now. We have no option. We must continue. Potentiality. What? That which we think we become. Think, believe and become. We will become that which we believe ourselves to be.

The Taba tell you what to believe, and then you believe it to be. You believe it to be. Then the combination of our minds bring about a universally experience of reality which has first been defined and then experienced.

It has happened already. Already happened. You cannot do nothing.

I had a dream. I was in a haunted house (I don't know whether being in a haunted house is relevant.) When I looked at someone in the dream I noticed that as they turned there were creatures on the individuals back. Then I thought: If he has things on his back then perhaps I have things on my back. He looked in the mirror, and as he looked in the mirror they disappeared. Then I thought: perhaps I have these creatures on my back. When I look there is nothing there.

They say that there are different worlds. There are different realms, different crosses in the sphere, and many different spheres. Entangled realities, entangled individuals.

God. Who are you?

– You.

Create avenues of new realities. Where is I? I am not you. You are more than I. For you – you are what you need. To know me you must come to know yourself. To know yourself you must lose your thoughts of me. Or, rather, the thoughts you associate with me. Whether you believe me to be this or that. Whether you are right or wrong about who I am is irrelevant. You must come to yourself from yourself. You are the experienter and the experienced – dip your finger into the pond, into your own reflection. Experience self and you will experience me. Unity.

One. All is unity. This is known. Co-creation.

– Co-creation.

Now what are we to do with it?

Let us begin.

There is no God without me. There is no me without God.

Therefore I must begin with me.

I am connected to everything. Everything is I. Everything is interconnected, entwined entangled.

Where do I go from here? I will wait. There is no communication at the moment.

2011-06-11

I keep seeing a vision, it must be a communication.

It is a communication. It is a communication from us (the watchers – the Dreamwalkers).

Please convey the ideas which we have projected.

I believe it is the Dreamwalkers. Not as they are now, but as they were.

Every individual has a garden, and each individual needed to grow food.

This is actually what we did. It was a long time ago. We understood that it was good for an individual – a Dreamwalker.

– Each of us must think and act responsibly.

We understood that if we were to be successful as a species we would have to maximise our potential.

Each Dreamwalker grew their own food and produced their own food. How can an individual become fat if they create their own food? In some parts of our home planet some of us had difficulties growing food, and some were better at it.

Then we changed to a better system. There were problem/challenges and we came together to solve them. So problems can only be overcome by acting together. It was natural to help others, and we found that the most efficient way of growing healthy food (e.g. hydroponics, aeroponics). Later we genetically altered food in order to allow it to grow in less favourable climates. Any problems this caused (which were few) were corrected along the way. If you find it difficult to accept that we genetically altered food safely, ask yourself why? To question every piece of information you receive is wise. Question authority, question everything.

There was never any need for any other nation or people to move against each other. Simply because not one nation solved the problem. We came to the conclusion that social re-organisation was the most important and fundamental part of a successful society, and we became aware that at the most fundamental level we were equal.

Like humanity we also used fossil fuels, but we understood that this was at best a half way solution. It created waste, essentially: pollution (which is waste). We came to the understanding universally that if we created a system which created very little or no waste then that system would be a successful system. When we changed from fossil fuels to other sources we did so gradually and globally. At first we used solar energy. It was difficult at first. There wasn't enough energy to go round. In response to this we decided to use less. Bear in mind, we were finding new ways of producing food more efficiently. We were also reaching a point where we began to communicate globally. We evolved socially, and telepathically/spiritually, and then we grew technologically. Technological innovations were not our first priority. We grew philosophically/spiritually/socially and then technologically – we grew/our minds grew. We came to understand ourselves and we came to understand God. We all had and have a different understanding of the Great Spirit. This was and is natural. The Divine communicates individually to everyone. He/She also communicated to us as a people. We listened as a race of beings, we were/are aware that we are all equal. It was/is easy for us to think of each other as equals. We were equal (and we are equal now). Humanity, every human being, has the potentiality within their souls. Each individual needs to unlock that potential. The fabric of every human being can transform completely. It is possible for every human being to transform and enter into and become that which he/she is meant to be.

We all had gifts which could be shared with others. Our intelligences were equal too. Not everyone was a whiz, but there weren't dunces either.

Humanity has a difficulty. There is a perception that the few should rule the many. There is a perception that they should do so because they are smarter. The ability to be able to manipulate the rest of the human race gives them the right too (this is what is believed by your elite class.) This is the central piece in their philosophy. The right to power.

The Taba does not perceive themselves as part of the "human race" it perceives itself as superior – a "ruling class." They will fight for this to be so.

The human race needs to become aware of the power which is within, at the very heart of humanity – it is the phoenix. Cells change – cells become receptive and open, and enable the individual to experience reality differently. Better. Think of it. Infinite growth and change, even in your present life. Even within this very year!

Cells can close too, can become less receptive. You as an individual change in the way that you wish to change. Trust in the phoenix.

In the beginning there was the phoenix, and the phoenix was with God, and the phoenix was God.

Praise be to our Heavenly Father/Mother.

Indeed. Praise to her grace and every lasting love.

2011-06-11

How much depravity can humanity commit? Some people are like shining stars. Beacons to others. Sometimes others know not, but they find out in time. There are so many years of pain and torture that humanity has committed against each other.

There is wretchedness and suffering, one group of people perpetrate against another group. The fallen, the heroes – the unknown heroes that have been like stars, all the while the ignorant do not see. Sometimes the great have been acknowledged. Others have walked with them and watched as they fell. They have remembered the golden ones, their souls that burned as bright as stars.

Sometime my anger wells up deep, and my sadness too. The supposed great, the people in the newspaper, the great entertainers – I am sad sometimes when I think that humanity could be so much more. Then I remember the true golden ones. I remember them and continue my life, a testament to the silent unsung heroes of everyday life.

2011-06-21

I have just been reading about a television show called: "the event.". It is strange to see the ideas which is being discussed on the website. I feel that the web site: Divine Cosmos has tapped into the truth – the author David Wilcox seems to know the truth, the very same truth that has been revealed to me through our communication.

This is so.

There is to be a meeting between E.T's and humans – already it has occurred. It is not the case that humanity will go through a change because the authorities, through the media, will openly disclose that extra terrestrials exist. Humanity itself, each individual, will awaken and a great chain reaction will occur.

If the economy is stagnant, where will the people go to socialise? At such a critical point in the evolution of humanity the people need to socialise, to exchange information. It is a fundamental requisite for spiritual evolution to occur. People need to exchange fresh new ideas in order to grow. Where will the majority of working people go? To the Churches? Will the poor rush out to the churches? A person can go to the Churches if they are poor. It is cheaper than the pub. They have a message too, and the minds of individuals will be taught the "right" kind of message (at least "right" for the Taba), the kind of message that will make their minds so very malleable. They will be told what to think. Everything is all so very much worked out. Where else can the working person go? Down the pub? There has definitely been a decline in the number of people using the pubs, especially in the inner city areas. So where are people suppose to go to socialise, to exchange ideas?

And that is the point. The Taba are decelerating the spiritual evolution of the working person by limiting the socialisation of the majority of the human race. This is happening across in the majority of the working class. Everyone else pursuing money for the sake of security or power. If people are so preoccupied with working, or making money they won't be able to notice the manipulations.

Women working, men working ... who is there to look after the children? The schools. Surely the schools do the job. One teacher in an inner city area muttered to himself: "we are just glorified baby sitters."

Both parents get home at different times, the children are picked up from their grandparents, or even great grandparents. It is all well and good, but surely it is the parents that should teach their wisdom to their children. Wisdom should be taught. Wisdom: teach the children how to think. Instead they go to the schools and get taught what to think.

Look for the manipulations and come together to raise awareness in each other. Teach each other the ways of the Taba and come together and think of a solution. Accept that your reality, in this very moment, has been created by your actions and inactions (probably your inactions) – come together and act together. Think critically, think creatively.

We feel that it is probable that the authorities will announce that extra terrestrials are a reality. They will do so because the knowledge that extra terrestrials exist is spreading through humanity regardless of what the authorities say or do.

To believe that a quick spurt of human evolution will occur within humanity because of the actions of the few is incorrect. This will not be allowed to happen again.

The very idea is the great enemy. There is a high probability that the authorities will want to encourage the population to believe that it was they who passed the knowledge that extra terrestrials are real to the rest of humanity. Belief is the key, belief and perception. It is not within the power of the authorities to control when humanity accepts that extra terrestrials exist. However, they will attempt to do so.

The likely stratagem that will be used is to build the perception in the population that it was they who opened the door to this new awareness. They will encourage fear and attempt to instil in humanity the perception that extraterrestrials are to be feared. Then they will come to the rescue. Or they will take another avenue of approach, they may simply remain quiet. They will spread the knowledge subtly, that extra terrestrials are not to be trusted. It is our great work, our hope that through communication on an individual level (and perhaps through small groups – at first) humanity will choose the path of freedom and not follow the path of self enslavement.

Perception management. Those who control the perception of the population control the minds of the population. They have been building the perception of fear of extra terrestrials gradually (through the media and through the music industry) through every form of art, particularly film making, but perhaps less so through the written word.

The minds of the enlightened are connecting with each other too. Make no mistake there are many coming together and coming up with some powerful thinking and powerful actions. Gradually the fight is being won. It is frightening at first, or rather it can be. The awakening of humanity, it is a gradual process. We are aware that as humanity awakens to who they truly are as individuals, and as a species, that there will be a gentle move toward a spiritual, a being based social structure. Then there will come a gentle change in humanity's genetic structure. Each individual will be become as great as Jesus himself (this was his great hope, the hope that everyone will become as he is.)

We will help you if you want us to help you. If you allow us to help you.

Perhaps there will not be a radical change. It is not expected that humanity will grow wings or super human powers. Super human powers? The Taba are formidable. "Don't count us out yet, or our alliances," we hear them say.

Extra terrestrials have been helping humanity out for a very long time. Do you think we would quit? Humanity: the true humanity. Humanity: what is it? What is humanity? You all will determine the meaning of the word. Humanity will reveal its true identity. Truth is hidden in fiction. There has been many truths told through your fiction. We have been communicating with individuals, we have been helping individuals develop themselves and their potential, and they have been helping us. We, and the enlightened people on earth and in the heavenly abode, understand the need for humanity to find its own path.

We help humanity develop. We do not offer anything other than what is already within humanity.

The Taba are evolving, they are working together, and manipulating the media, preventing certain ideas spreading. If an artist becomes successful, they corrupt them through one means or another (sometimes through the many religions – through conversion.)

They open the doors for those who are aiding their agenda, and close the doors for those who teach the true spirituality, the spirituality of freedom.

They destroy those who promote self expression and empowerment. Give power and money to those who forward the agenda. If an artist is influential then they manipulate the artist, manipulate the music and lyrics. If a series is on TV and is successful, they put pressure on those to change the story line to something which serves their agenda. For example: if a story line promotes extra terrestrials as benevolent, they threaten to pull the plug on the series unless there are plot changes. Or perhaps (ever has/are their ways subtle) they will change the plot by influencing the writers one way or another. In truth there are a thousand ways to manipulate. There is so many different ways to project extra terrestrials as evil. They feed the masses what they want to feed the masses, and they allow humanity to consume that which furthers their ideas – their power plans.

It is not all doom and gloom. There are great things happening. People are awakening. Great minds are becoming greater, and the minds of the masses are slowly becoming aware.

The triangle is beginning to lose its shape, it is beginning to become a circle.

Understand this: Humanity will not become again like it once was. It will not be allowed to be. We will not allow humanity to be enslaved again. The authorities have been made aware of our existence. They have known for a long while that we are here. We have held concourse with the authorities. They have been informed that we will not allow the minority to gain control of the minds of the many, and use the many as a tool for dominating other species. We made a promise a long time ago that the ways of the Tababacalasia will never be allowed to return.

Yet still they persist.

Much damage was done so long ago. It cannot be allowed to happen again.

2011-06-22

I have some thoughts: I keep thinking of a species. I don't see the species in my mind's eye. They have reached a similar stage of development as humanity. They took a different view of existence, of their part to play in regard to their own species and in relation to their place in the cosmos.

There is a building made out of toughened glass. Food is grown in this glass house. There are acres of food being tended by individuals. Each has a designated amount of space. Within this space the individual is able to grow food in order to feed the individual and their family. Each individual had a home and was allowed to use an amount of energy in order to run appliances within that home. The rest of the individual's time could be used to do whatever was desirable for that individual.

Individuals naturally found their own niche, they gravitated towards what gave them pleasure. At first there were those who merely pursued pleasure for its own sake. Many individuals pursued noble pursuits and became well known for their accomplishments. The species grew in so many ways, in every area. Philosophically, the social sciences and spiritual knowledge was highly prized. They advanced technologically too, though with each stage of technological achievement the questions asked first were: how will this technology influence us as a species?

The species were not always so peaceful, there had been violence. The violence was recognised as being a symptom of unrest. It was recognised by everyone that the global society was not as it should be.

Individuals had rights. They had a right to a home. A right to food and water, or a means to provide food and water for themselves and a right to energy. The energy was used to heat homes and to use appliances etc It was considered imperative that technology should be used primarily to feed, clothe, provide shelter and provide clean water, hygiene and medical care for everyone. The social sciences were developed and were a priority. There was no imperative to go into space. The one focus was on creating an improved standard of living for everyone on the planet.

They reasoned that homes could be created easily enough. Everyone agreed that buildings should be made. A building to grow food. Buildings to house individuals and their families. This pursuit was achieved. Food was grown and distributed to others. Who had a right to it? Who had the right to grow food? Everyone. It was an obvious need. Who gave the suns of the universe to us? The Great Spirit. Who gave the gifts? The ability to understand the wonders of the universe? Who gave us the means to be able to use those gifts? The Great Spirit. Did the Great Spirit put a price tag on these things? It was recognised that the Great Spirit was free and generous. The species sought to be the same. Everyone reached a point of understanding this. Who had the right to take these things away? Who had the right to prevent an individual from providing these things for themselves?

It was also recognised and widely anticipated that once the species was free, free from having to spend every waking hour providing for themselves and their families the fundamental needs, then the greatest freedom could be pursued – the freedom to pursue and practice the discipline and passion of their vocation.

The knowledge of how to grow your own food. Who amongst human beings know how to grow their own food? Who has the space to grow their own food? Who has the right to prevent an individual from growing his own food? It should be a sacred right.

Somehow, along the way human individuals has given up this right. Who has the right to have their own shelter? To build one's own structure? Who has access to the provisions which help the individual survive? Energy too, who has the right to prevent the means to using the sun's rays as a form of electricity?

A few in society. They control the means by which the rest of humanity can obtain these things. They are sacred rights to the human race. All of the human race. The few should not be able to control who is able to have what and when.

If there was a country that used a similar system that we speak of, then the Taba would invade it and strip the knowledge from the residents of that country. Who would stop them? Who could stop them?

They would use the media as a means of controlling the minds of the masses. The masses' inaction would sanctify the actions of the Taba.

The invaded country would be labelled evil. Control must be maintained. The Taba desire to use the human race as a means to achieve their ends. Complete supremacy of the cosmos. Do you think they would stop when they had supremacy of the earth? Who are the Taba? They are elitist humans who have maintained a system of control over many millennia.

The human race has grown, and has been allowed to grow. The Taba give the tools for humanity to accomplish what they want to achieve. The very thing they need to do to accomplish the next stage of the plan is to obtain the means to be able to travel through space. They wish to be able to move through the stars again. They have accessed the knowledge that has been passed down through the ages from one generation to another. Across the millennia they have passed knowledge down. They have not understood the knowledge that has been in their keeping. As the ages passed they funded experiment after experiment and bit by bit, with the aid of the secret teachings, secret knowledge, they manipulated the masses and move closer to creating a utopia for themselves. They recorded ancient scientific knowledge and for thousands of years they have been experimenting with so many ideas, with the hope that one day they would have the ability to understand it. Through the ancient knowledge they gained more understanding of the knowledge that their ancestors had passed down to them. Slowly they have come to understand, and to regain what they once understood. It is their belief that they understand past events.

They began to create huge structures, create armies and weapons of war. They built and learnt. The knowledge they gain from building these structures, by organising wars, by winning wars, by creating the means to be able to control people, organising them to do what they want. They did this along the way with one goal in mind: to come to understand the next piece of the puzzle. Then they gave their knowledge to the next generation. Ever onwards, ever have they passed the torch down to the next generation.

They passed on every piece of knowledge. Everything is documented and passed on. Then the next generation continue the agenda and continued the process. They make mistakes, they move across the globe, implemented currency, forming hierarchies, passing down their knowledge and the means to control the masses. Not only control but how to motivate themselves and how to keep a purity to their gene pool. They get the masses to develop the skills that they want developed, and inhibit the thinking habits of those who are beginning to think a little creatively, a little too critically. If someone starts to teach the truth about things to the masses, a truth that might awaken the masses, one way or another they will disable this individual or individuals.

"Humanity sometimes becomes an untended beast, it has a tendency to raise its head and bite the hand of its master." This is a saying of the Taba: "keep humanity tethered."

They prevent humanity reaching forth its hand to free itself. The fact is humanity has never been able to leave the walls of Babylon.

Humanity has always been enslaved. People do not have rights, they have privileges. If humanity does not obey its master then the privileges are taken away.

2011-06-26

I have been thinking about the Jesus story. I have been doing some research on the internet too. The story is older than the time that Jesus walked the earth. I have seen Jesus, and experienced the presence of Jesus. Jesus is definitely true. I felt his presence also when I was at the Pentecostal church many years ago. When in the presence of Jesus, there is no thought in the mind that this being in front of you is anything other than Jesus.

Due to this experience, and other experiences along the years I am absolutely convinced that Jesus is real, that he walked the earth at one time, and that he was a great healer. He is an ascended being, he came to the earth to accomplish a great work.

I am beginning to believe that the truths that Jesus spoke have been hijacked and twisted to conform to a previous religion. I could well imagine that there was a time when Christianity (in its purist form) was a great movement indeed. I feel certain that people died for the belief, knowledge and way of being, and for the right for their spiritual knowledge to be preserved.

The ideas which Jesus taught was not that which society taught. In many ways it was anti authoritarian. Jesus brought in a new approach, a new better perspective. Then after Jesus' death and resurrection, as the centuries rolled by, the religion changed and became twisted into a tool that the Taba used and still uses to this day.

Previously I believed that humanity's had accidentally misunderstood the truths that Jesus taught. They misunderstood and then communicated their warped view of the truths. I am beginning to understand that the misunderstandings were instigated by the Taba. Imagine, if you will, a belief system taught to the population in order to manipulate humanity. Judaism was obviously a problem for the Taba (perhaps). How can you infiltrate a people that allows no others into their religion? The only way to become a Jew was to be born a Jew. As I have already mentioned in previous pages the Jewish people's elders were aware, and perhaps still are aware, of the need to protect its knowledge from those who would seek to infiltrate it and change it from within.

Christianity was a sect in Judaism, and then became larger and larger as the years passed by. It couldn't be changed by the Taba. I suspect that the Taba wielded the roman empire, in other words: the usual methods of crushing a belief system did not work i.e. through fear and violence. So where fear failed they used subversion and infiltration instead.

An error doesn't become a mistake until you refuse to correct it.

* * *

When I sit – something watches me, I know not what it is. I hear whispers in my mind and ask the silence a question. Who is this that watches?

Have you asked the silence who they are?

I have asked. I hear a whisper a whisper in my mind. I know not if the whispers that I hear in my mind are the answers that I hear. There is no answer. Though I think that the answer that I receive is that the watcher is me. That I am viewing myself from a future that has not become.

I am merely a whisper within your mind, sometimes. Sometimes I am a wind that caresses the leaves. Sometimes I am the thunder and lightning that leaps across mountains. The words on a page, or through an actor's mouth, the feeling in a lover's caress freely given and received. I speak in many ways. Your heart speaks. I am your heart. I speak with your heart between my lips.

You pray sometimes. I listen to your prayers and answer with your heart. I speak in many ways, through the tongues of slaves and the torque of a wise man.

It is hard to understand, and it is hard to know. I suspect that my inner most thoughts are the truth. It is not you that makes me doubt. It is myself. I desire to know. I doubt myself. But do I trust myself to know that my doubt is purposeful? Is my doubt a good thing?

Your doubt tells you that you do not know enough. You need to increase your knowledge by researching everything and then applying your knowledge. Also look to your past. Look to your beliefs. How have you come to your beliefs? Were you told your beliefs by others and then simply accepted them? What is your most fundamental truth?

I seen Jesus.

But did you see him?

I heard the opening of a door, and felt him move closer to me. The feeling that poured through my body was unmistakable. I heard his voice. He showed me things, and I witnessed them through my/his mind's eye. It was the feeling that told me who he was. More than anything else it was the feeling. It was a sustained feeling, lasting for more than an hour.

Beings have travelled through the stars to be in the company of him. Travellers have traversed deserts to be in the place where he was. People have died for the chance to touch his garment, to behold his face. You had an hour of his company I hear you say. You are blessed indeed. He must have thought you worthy indeed. You have been greatly blessed.

I have. I am greatly blessed to share your company too.

It has been said, by his own lips, that I am greater than he. I long to be with you and to know you. Even more so than a moment ago, even more so than an hour ago, or ten hours ago. You travel through this life of yours so that you can become closer to me. Your struggles and your sufferings are not endless, they will cease. They are for a purpose.

You are getting to know me, even more so than you have before. Your life is a great blessing. Bless your life with the whole of your being.

Thank you Father. I always feel so resentful to myself that I doubt. I don't like to ask anything of you Father because I feel that it is a blasphemy to do so. You give so much to me.

I always answer you. I answer you with your heart. I say to you when you pray: "Do not pray, your prayer is already answered." – I speak to your heart.

Thank you Father.

You were going to end this conversation with the words: "God bless you." I do bless myself, regularly. You should do the same, often.

2011-07-03

Some believe that it is simply the socio-economic system which creates and propagates ill health, and it is at the root of all our problems. To elevate our problems we would simply need to redesign our society based upon the needs of the people and the regeneration of natural resources.

We would concur, accept of course, we understand that this socio-economic system is a tool of the Taba, and it is a grand tool. If it had been created accidentally, then it is a wonder of wonders how it has managed to remain intact. After all, it is thriving as much today as it ever has. Built into the very system itself is inequality, and it is this underlying fact which keeps humanity rising. It is this underlying fact that keeps humanity finding new methodologies in restructuring this socio-economic system.

Know this, if humanity was left to its own devices then everything would fall naturally into place. The scientific method would be applied to the problems that humanity experiences. It would also solve them. Also humanity would experience a wonderful Spiritual brother and sisterhood. If things were left to naturally develop, then everything would fall into place, everything would have a tendency to fall into place.

This is not the universal experience of humanity. We point this out and offer it as the strongest piece of evidence that this written document is true.

We repeat: Built into the very system itself is inequality, and it is this underlying fact which keeps humanity rising. It is this underlying fact that keeps humanity finding new methodologies in restructuring this socio-economic system.

Any attempt for humanity to reform will be thwarted. However we are, along with human individuals and other extra-terrestrial life, aiding humanity through communications. These wise helpers are attempting to place certain individuals in a position where they are able to help humanity get to the next level. To get to the next level requires social reform, and relinquishing the monetary system, or perhaps reinventing the monetary system – making it much fairer.

The Taba hijack institutions, and bend the institution, and form the institution in their own likeness. They don't need to use drastic violence against the individuals of these institutions, they simply need to apply their tried and tested techniques. Also, they adapt to the new situations as they appear and record everything for future generations. The Taba focal group¹ are used to keep order and provide assistance. To enforce order where it breaks down. Individuals are placed in key positions, and are shown what they need to be shown when it is needed to be shown, in order for them to do what they need to do in order to accomplish a purpose which has been designated purposeful by the Taba for them. They are told do something and they do it. No questions asked. They in turn have people beneath them in the social strata which in turn do what they are told. This process continues down the line to the very bottom.

¹ Focal group: These groups are targeted because they have served the Taba well in the past. They have, along with generations before them, provided great service for the Taba. Part of the foundational stratagem of the Taba is to provide a solid base for their future society. In order to do this they provide opportunity for future generations of families that have done what has been required, or even have succeeded beyond expectation. These groups or families are rewarded for generations to come, and it is almost certainly the case that the generations are provided with great "favours" and high positions within societies. Some generations have sought to rebel, and have been utterly destroyed. However, whilst sometimes a generation sometimes become rebellious, often they are taken back into the fold if they perform a specific duty. The duty will invariably continue to be performed by generations to come. Such individuals or groups are regarded in high esteem.

Resource based economy. Is this the way?

Yes. It has to be. Humanity cannot continue as it has done. The Taba realise this. How can they not? What are their ideas for humanity we wonder.

I have been watching zeitgeist: moving forward documentary. It is very interesting. I can't but agree with what is being said in the documentary.

This is good news. You are beginning to look at everything and think about everything that you see. There certainly needs to be a change in society. Changes have to be made. If these words (which are communication to you) are correct, it will be interesting to see how the Taba cope with the growing understanding of how these systems work and how they will adjust.

They cannot allow such a new balanced system because to allow such a system to come to be would be to lose "control".

2011-07-06

I am he that whispers in your mind, I am the quiet voice.

2011-07-08

An interesting thought is this: We live in a system where it is easy to believe that a cabal could exist. Allegiances exist in an unequal society, in an equal society there would be no need of elegancies, except for the allegiance to the benefit of the human race, and then onward to the greater cosmos. Create a system which is balanced. It is difficult to manipulate others when living in a equal society. Take away the tools of the oppressor and you take away the oppressor.

2011-07-10

The human mind is finite and I am infinite. Finite and infinite – a division. You there, me here. Male, female, night, day, great, small, awake, asleep, heaven, hell, enlightenment, delusion; rich, poor, clever and stupid, light and darkness.

Perception: acceleration deceleration. Are we perceiving a pattern here? A candle in a room, lighting the room. Is it the darkness which defines the small candle? Does the hardships in your life help you define the good times? Or is it the other way around?

Do you want me to tell you? Give the answers to you on a plate, along with the knife and fork and spoon?

Is there not a darkness and is there not a light? Does the candle in its centre hold a piece of the darkness? Is that darkness not like a piece of cake, layered with shades of grey? Where is the point where something is? and then where is the point where it isn't? We use a tool, a scientific tool to measure something which is so small, then we use math to work out its relationship with everything else. Then someone moves the goal posts.

We believe this and then we believe that. How are we to know what is real? How are we to know what isn't? The boundaries we position today will be torn down tomorrow. I like science. Science doesn't concern itself with one thing or another. It says: "I will investigate." Then it does so, it builds walls and then takes them down again, brick at a time. Reason upon reason, logic upon logic, evidence layered upon evidence. The pursuit of knowledge and understanding. The pursuit of love.

Who are we to judge another? And yet how can we not do so? We know not his pursuit. Who are we to pull down a woman's ideals? She has held onto them long enough. She places value in them.

Believe what you will. Do what thou wilt, and let that be the whole of the law. Is this not true? Do I stop you? Did I stay the murderer's hand. Did I lift a hand to prevent a holocaust? Do I seek to justify myself? And for the hand that writes this piece of writing? Who is he to write this? What gives him the right? If it is not I the creator, your creator, the Lord of Hosts that speaks with this individual and allows his words to march across the page and make sense to you. Then what of it? Who are you to prevent his hand? The Taba build up walls and they smash them down again. What of it? Who am I to prevent them from doing so?

If you listen to me. If you hear my words, then come to me. You don't need any church to know me. You do not need any one to speak for me. I do not need anyone to speak for me. Jesus was born in a stable. What am I saying to the world when I place Jesus in a stable? What am I saying? Is the answer not obvious? The world at that time was filled with rulers of every kind. Kings and queens, holy men, holy institutions etc. I could have chosen any of them for Jesus' birth place, but I didn't. I chose a stable – the lowliest place. I don't need palaces or earthly kings to encircle the chosen one.

Yes I chose him, I asked him to come, and I spoke from the centre of his being, from the moment of his conception and before that moment. I am the alpha, I am there then, and I am here now, and I am in the very moment that the reader reads these words.

He was chosen because of his greatness. I raised him up, and I am still raising him to new heights. As I am doing to you. I bless you even at this moment, especially at this moment, and especially in every moment. All moments are equal to me. Today is Christ's birth, as was yesterday, as is tomorrow.

I chose the stables. People say that he was from the line of David. Stop establishing authority. He is an authority in himself, and so are you. If I followed your way of doing things then I would have placed him in a palace from his birth. Instead I chose a stable, and then I raised him up to be the greatest king.

I showed the world the power of my mighty hand. And it was so. The great works of the Tababacalasia, if great they can be called; the industrious works of the Tababacalasia across millennia, across many millennia come to nothing. Dust to dust. It availed them nothing. Dross in my mighty hand.

Do you think that the works of the remnant will rise to be as great as the Tababacalasia before them? This Tababacalasia are a small host. A mere sandcastle on a beach, ready to meet the steady tide.

I cast my eye across the millennia, I see the stars in the sky across vast distances. You came from the stars. Do you think I created one level. Just a physical universe? Think again. There are realms within realms within realms, forever.

This is written on a website:

"For behold, He Who forms mountains & creates the wind & declares to man what are His thoughts, He Who makes dawn into darkness and treads on the high places of the earth, the LORD God of hosts (Sabaoth) is His name." (Amos 4:13)

And then this is written:

A W Tozer writes:

"A person who has sensed what Is sensed will never be able to joke about 'the Man upstairs' or the 'Someone up there who likes me.'"

"One of the movie actresses who still prowled around the nightclubs after her supposed conversion to Christ was quoted as telling someone, 'You ought to know God. You know, God is just a livin' doll!'" I read where another man said, "God is a good fellow."

I confess that when I hear or read these things I feel a great pain within. My brother or sister, there is something about our God that is different, that is beyond us, that is above us—transcendent. We must be humbly willing to throw our hearts open and to plead, 'God, shine Thyself into my understanding for I will never find Thee otherwise.'
"

I dislike this piece of writing.

Why?

Because it is giving a perspective which is inaccurate, and plain wrong. The piece of writing from Amos 4:13 is clear, and does not go against in any way my understanding of you. Indeed, a moment ago, you spoke in my mind and said something very similar to it. I have concluded that it is true.

This is a great moment. You have measured the biblical piece of writing against your own understanding of me, and have found it to be worthy. I like this. My effort in you has led you to this moment. In other words, you have come to the starting point that you are an authority, and as a natural consequence of this, you measure everything by your own expanded consciousness, by your own understanding of which you know is blessed by me.

For others who are less wise, they reverse the process. They assume it is they who are unworthy (how did they come to this conclusion?) and will always be unworthy unless some external force makes them worthy – some worthy external force. As a natural conclusion to this mental attitude they then choose an external source for their truth. Having established that their perspective innately is less than others, less than the words of the prophets in the bible. They then concur that an authority which is outside of them must be right, and that ultimately God is the highest external force and authority.

All that is needed is an external intelligence to come along and then sell them the perspective that they represent me on Earth and bingo! Everything begins with the individual not trusting in themselves, not believing that they are the authority.

They have presupposed that my opinion of them is less than the opinion I give to other people, they then commence to give all their power away. They also believe, that if a piece of writing has lasted many thousands of years it must be an authority. I have news for you. Just because a piece of writing is thousands of years old does not make it right. Consider this: if the truth was right, back then, then how come the shared reality of most of humanity these last ten thousand years has been hellish?

Poppycock. Let me establish my truth in you. I am not saying that a piece of writing many thousands of years old is more likely or less likely to be truthful. I talk to you all the time. I talk through the medium of your life, and I talk through a thousand different methods and in a thousand different ways. Every person is just as able to listen to and work with me. Once an individual comes to me, I will work with them. You need no Church or any authority to tell or explain to you what is truth. I am here with you, if you allow me into your inner being.

Let's get back to where we began.

What is it about A W Tozer, about his words? that makes you feel uneasy?

You don't come over as being "other" or mightier, when you speak to me. I have felt awe in your presence, I have felt an amazing love, and your words are so clear to me. I do not always feel that way when I talk with you. If I was to feel like that all the time I would feel overawed by you most of the time. I would not be able to sustain myself through your presence.

I have felt how transcending you are, but more often than not you come across to me as a "nice sort of fellow". A W Tozer writes about you from only one perspective, and that is probably the perspective that has been taught to him.

I also feel great pain when he writes what he writes because I feel he does not allow the perspective that you are able to communicate with him, one friend to another. "We must be humbly willing to throw our hearts open and to plead, 'God, shine Thyself into my understanding for I will never find Thee otherwise'"

This is so wrong. I do not plead and because of my pleading you come to me to communicate. I believe whole heartedly that you will not become closer to me through pleading. I do not plead: "God, shine Thyself into my understanding for I will never find Thee otherwise."

I have been taught by you that to say this is to deny you, and to deny the truth of who you are. The truth is you speak to us when we talk to you, and you speak back to us every time when we listen. People have eyes open only for one perspective, and you are speaking through many different perspective and avenues. They have closed down the part of them that feels. Often you speak through the emotions of an individual, and often you speak as the quiet voice within.

If you truly believe that I can only express myself in one particular way, then I can only come to you in that way. Maybe I do not want to come to you whilst you plead. Maybe I do not want people to walk on their knees when they come to me. Come to me standing up, eyes wide open. Ready and willing to think, to love and be mighty. Dare to become more than.

2011-07-26

Magic is being used all the time. It is being used by large corporations big and small. By people that live on the street, by presidents and by you and me. Cause and effect; great big mouthfuls of air is being converted into energy, allowing us to operate in the world – indeed it strange to think of magic as being something which is being legitimately practiced.

I don't know who you are.

You know that I am communicating to you and through you. You know that I am good. That is to say, you know that I am working towards the same goals as you: the greater balance of order through the manipulation of reality – that which is influenced by the will either directly or indirectly.

What is magic?

You tell me?

When you cause something to happen by doing something which is unrelated to it, causally. Being able to perform words or actions, sometimes through ritual to bring about an ends; being able to cause something to happen that would not ordinarily be able to happen; giving the individual the means to be able to influence something or someone from far away; words – emotions, symbols – the concentration of supposed energies to achieve an ends. I think there is also a possibility of being able to sing or chant something into existence, also perhaps also through the communication of spirits.

Like we are doing now.

Indeed, though we are not influencing reality as of yet.

Time is thought to be a reality, it is universally experienced and believed to have existence, at least it is in the minds of the individuals that believe in time. It is also true that there are minds: scientific minds, religious minds and magical minds which understand that time can bend and can even loop in on itself.

Yet most people believe time to be linear. Merely because most people believe something “is” in a particular moment does not make it so.

Magic is similar. By the way, the thoughts that you are having at this moment in time are very good thoughts.

I am thinking of creating a medicine bag.

It is a very good idea. Try it. You will be guided of its proper use.

I am not saying that I believe in them, at this moment in time, but I do have an open mind. I shall give it a go.

You will be guided to the right medicine bag, the bag that is right for you. You might well say: “the medicine bag has chosen me!”

I know that your mind feels like it is being bombarded from many different sources. You are a magician, it is part of the magician’s path to feel this way. The doors of your mind are opening, the perimeters that your mind has placed on information is being adjusted by yourself, by your higher self, also by Great Spirit and his chosen participants.

I will come back at another time, to teach you. Today we are done.

2011-10-07

“Magician!” they yell, “Oh my goodness” they say, the oh so worthy bible students.

“Magicians are evil!” If God performs a miracle through you, then it is okay (we had best be careful though, they might mistake it for devils work.) The collective Bible readers are happy enough to accept miracles made by me (though how would they know whether it was by me or some other I don't know? Maybe they would seek out one of their high church members, someone that had more authority.)

Shall we say: If they were reasonably sure the wonderful (or woeful – remember I am a vengeful God) event had been created by me, then that would be okay. Someone else perform a miracle through his or her own power. “Oh no!” Surely a person cannot perform a miracle by their power this would be immoral!

You can happily enough perform every other action through your own directed will. Don’t be too magnificent however, because others will think you to be deluded.

The world is in darkness, the religions are too. They hold primitive ideas, un-evolved ideas which require a person to not think at all. People naturally accept an idea simply because other people (other people who are supposedly wiser and more knowledgeable about such things) have told them it is okay (or not!).

Misconception and misunderstandings are writhe, “help” – never fear I am here. How can we know what is right or wrong? Look to the self, look to how you feel, look to your experience, look to the happenings of your life, look to how one thing follows another and ask yourself: how can I use the circumstances that are happening in my life to understand myself? How do I define who I am in relation to the circumstances in my life? Action springs from being and consequences naturally follow actions. We may know who we are by the consequences or the events in our life. There are some events however which occur in our life which do not seem to spring from our actions at all. The events just seem to happen. What is really happening, what is really manifesting in the reality of the individual when a random event occurs, or when a series of events occurs is the natural unfoldment of cause and effect?

I need help here. It is my sincere belief that if a person’s intention is to do someone harm, and then does so, then surely said person has to take the consequence of those action, has to partake of the consequences sooner or later.

That is a good way of making sense of everything. I will say at this time that justice is always served. There is no escape. If a man was a saint in one life and an abuser in another then what should become of him? Also, very importantly, there is one variable that you missed out. A person comes to the material realm to experience – to know the self in its experience. Being produces experience, and the by-product of experience is spiritual growth. Each individual in every moment is being and experiencing beingness and then deciding how to be in the next moment – every being is constantly in the act of pure creation. The greatest freedom produces the greatest growth. I give you freedom with both hands. I do not give you freedom with one hand and take that very same freedom away from you with the other. I do not give complete freedom and then send you to the burning depths of hell if you decide to exercise that freedom.

Each individual has the freedom and is able to choose to create and recreate self constantly forever. You have to partake in the consequence. When the action is completed the consequence is assured and is part and parcel of the action. It is a see-saw: action exists on one side and consequence on the other.

Is every consequence immediate? I have noticed that one person does an action and does not receive a consequence and then another does the same action and all hell breaks loose. Or one person does an action and reaps no reward whilst another does a similar action and reaps much.

More goes on, some of it you do not perceive because it is not yours to perceive at that particular time . Sometimes the consequences of an action ripple through many life times. When an individual does an action through good intent, sometimes that action ripples and perhaps it is felt and experienced by many. All the individuals decide who they are in relation to what they feel and experience from the consequence and then do their own actions. Others simply react and do to others what has been done to them. When they do this they allow themselves to be created by the events that they experience, and in so doing perpetuate negative emotion and pain, magnifying it. Sow the wind reap the whirlwind. From a single seed a tree is grown and the tree produces a thousands of fruits. Each fruit contains many seeds and each seed produces a tree. The fruit is born from the seed. The action is born from the intent.

An individual hurts an individual or many individuals, and those who he hurts are innocent. What if the only way for an individual to move onward with their spiritual growth is to express wanton violence? Remember, everything has to be expressed. The great souls in the high

Heavens know this. The great souls know this and love the individual. These high souls know that the only way for this individual to move onward spiritually is to express that which is within, to express this violence. Knowing this, the great souls choose to incarnate on the earth, knowing full well what the individual is going to do and has accepted the "karma" of it. The individual that perpetrates the violence fully believes that the individuals that he/she is going to commit are innocent. Sometimes they are innocent. Sometimes they willingly take the perpetrators violence and experience his violence in order to transmute his karma. Such great beings have done this far more frequently than is known by those in the material realm. Some other great souls, souls who whilst in the earth realm did things which were wrong, and then after many physical reincarnations learnt the error of their ways, choose to come to the earth plane to experience the natural consequence of the actions done so long ago. They come back down to the earth sphere willingly because they know that if they do not take the suffering onto themselves then it will be expressed onto another. They are so filled with love and compassion that they are born through the mortal world again and have bad things happen to them. They are indeed great. They knew in their spiritual heart that the things were going to happen. These souls, souls which were harmed when they were very young live calm tranquil lives and fill the world of their families and friends with joy and love. Later, after the perpetrator has done his or her deeds, the love ones of the victim come together and share love and healing. Each has the same story to tell. They say that "the child was always so content and peaceful. When the child looked at you, you always felt calm and at peace. It was like they knew what was going to happen and wanted to fill us with so much peace whilst they were here." They are so wise to think such a thought, and they are even wiser to say such a thought out loud. They are speaking a truth behind a truth. This is all I can say. There is an almighty truth and truth is love.

Thank you for this communication.

Thank you also.

2011-11-20

It's been a long time since our last communication.

And you have grown spiritually. It's all in the growth. It's all for the growth.

Yea, I understand.

Your writing has gotten better too.

Yes, I think so.

Don't think so. Know so.

Indeed. I just want to play my role, do what I need to do, find a way of doing what I need to do.

And what is that you need to do?

I need to continue to develop my gifts of communication and teach what has been taught to me. I need to increase my understanding. I need to write in order to gain money. Which will then help my children to become more secure, especially Trinity. Trinity is disabled and will need money if she is to be okay in the future.

It is easy to get enwrapped in the world. You must always strive to keep a spiritual awareness. It is easy to forget and get wrapped up in illusion. The real truth reveals a methodology in thought structures. Fear, the primal emotion – everything from this emotion brings about a decline, a breakdown of thought structure. Love – love: bravery, conscience reveals and expands our perceptions.

Your thoughts are so powerful, they manipulate the physical world around you – are you not in a different place now?

You are being mindful, but you must increase your meditation in order to gain mastery of yourself. Once a degree of mastery of the self is accomplished then the material reality around you will change.

Thank you very much for talking with me.

But we are talking with half of you, right?

How do you mean?

Your mind flits back and forward, from the communication to watching a programme.

I find it helps me to communicate if I change the frequency of my thoughts. I hold a frequency, and that frequency is the frequency that I communicate with you. At this moment, but I can't maintain this frequency. So I swap, I rest my mind, I change frequency, and then switch back when I am ready.

A good answer and a true answer. You need to build up your capacity to maintain the frequency that is needed for communication.

It is hard, my life has changed. I have new challenges now.

Indeed, we will speak with you. Thank you for communicating with us.

Thank you also. It is really good to connect with you.

2011-12-05

Hello.

Hi

If I may be so bold as to ask who are you?

It is I/us. How are you?

I think I am getting better. I am finding my feet a little.

That is good. You might find them at the end of your legs.

Ha ha ha. A nice answer. I don't seem to have any questions or anything at the moment.

You need space to breathe. To relax and tune in.

I feel better at the moment. It is nice to be back at home, back to my familiar routine. I have the thought: Maybe I can focus on my writing and philosophy.

This is a grand notion. A great idea. You are on a journey. A journey of self realisation, and a realisation of the true nature of the Great One – the great unity, the irrepressible awakening to universal understanding and acknowledgement of the great oneness of everything. That which is “God” is not something which is separate from us, but is a part of us, as we are part of him/her. We are a part of each other, indeed we are each other. We are not other. We are one.

What of the Tababacalasian philosophy? Is not their philosophy a philosophy of separatism?

Understand this first: this is not our philosophy. Here we are explaining the philosophy of the Tababacalasian.

In answer to your question: I/we believe so. It was/is an idea which teaches that the greatest are the strong, and the great are pure and powerful. Others are less, the strong are strong because they are able to raise themselves above the rest. The “rest” are indeed a part of the whole, but are a lesser part. Indeed, it is the philosophy of the Taba that those that are few in number, are great in every other respect, and should be "above" the rest. They conclude that this is the natural order of things.

The Taba maintain that the poor man's purpose is to reveal the greatness of the great. Weakness is there to be overcome. Those that overcome are celebrated and cheered, and the poor and weak are there because they provide contrast and serve to remind us of the greatness of the great. They attempt to mould reality in the form of this philosophy. The world is made into their image if others allow it to be. The Taba live, and as a group, they have inherited the world (at this point in earth's history.) They celebrate the past, they preserve the greatness of those before them (those that fit into their definition of "great") and attempt to turn everything to their will.

They succeed; they travel to new lands, they think up new ideas to twist other cultures into their way of being. They enslave others one way or another. But (they reason) if those others were able to rise up against them, and overcome them, and subjugate their will, then they would be the ones that held the power and right to write history. They would have the right, simply because they were stronger, cleverer and better.

The Tababacalasian philosophy fully accepts that people are different, that some are cleverer than others, stronger than others, more athletic than others, funnier than others etc. They celebrate this perspective view in everything they do. They recognise also, that to get to the next level of evolution humanity must provide for its elderly, for its disabled etc. Humans, they reason, must have a health care system in order to survive. The tool or weapon needs to be strong in order for it to function.

Humanity is constantly struggling against this kind of ideology in every respect. Humanity is brave and has struggled throughout time to preserve that which is most precious. The sacred things: the smile of a child, the whimsical jest, the grand talents: the artists and their art. All that we hold to be true and noble.

At the same time, in every walk of life an artificial system is being crafted and maintained. A system where the illusion that everyone must "work for a living" is the natural way of things. If the definition of "work" is doing that which you hate in order to have what you desire. Humanity should strive to move away from this way of being universally.

The great pioneers and the truly successful love to what they do, and do what they do because of the love it. This is called passion. If you was to ask one of these individuals: do you consider what you do as "work?" They would tell you that they love what they do. That they were happiest when "working".

It is best to do that which you do because you love to do it. This way of thinking would reorder a society. At this moment in time most of the people, most of the time, do what they do because it provides them with what they need, and for a few, with what they enjoy. Most of the world's population do what they do in order to get money. If the majority did what they did because it brought about a result (and they do), then the majority would do what they do and be attached to the result of things (which they are). It is the case, in our estimation, that most of humanity do what they do in order to create favourable consequences. In short they are doing what they hate in order to receive that which they need (or to provide for the needs of those they love), and if they are fortunate: to buy pleasurable experiences for themselves and others.

Instead humanity should do what each individual decides to do because they love to do it. In short, you should do what you truly desire to do because you love to do it.

Yes, the Taba system will provide the barest essentials for an individual to function, but this will only be provided if the individual is actively seeking "work." This "work" is not work in the strictest sense. By "working" they mean performing actions which contribute towards their agenda. If you look at the high paid jobs in society you will see that those that contribute to their "great work" are paid an obscene amount of money.

You could say: "Well heart surgeons get well paid. Are they then working towards "the Taba's agenda?"

Yes. It is the Taba's agenda that a portion of humanity be functioning at a high level. Each individual is given what is deemed necessary. They are told enough to do what they need to do.

A different way of being is needed. If you are accomplishing what your heart truly desires then you are also accomplishing what is truly necessary. This could be considered joyful work.

The Taba's idea of work is anything which serves their agenda. The agenda seeks to get everyone to serve it, and in turn, because the people are serving the agenda they are serving the originator of such a system.

The true definition of "work" is to do that which you most enjoy. If you do what you enjoy you will eventually be beneficial to others as well as yourself, and give back to society what it needs to prosper universally.

Humanity does not need to exist inside a frame work where some people starve, where some are homeless or haven't what they need to become fulfilled human beings.

Humanity does not need to do "work" in the traditional sense. Humanity is fast approaching a point where food production can be completely mechanised, clothing too. There will come a time when nearly everything will be mechanised.

Correction: humanity is well capable of creating such a system in this time frame. This is being prevented from being by the Taba simply because if such a state of being should be accomplished by humanity then they would lose control over the majority. To do so would go against the will of the originators of such a system.

To subvert this naturally occurring evolutionary step the Taba create an illusionary idea of "not enoughness". Through every medium, particularly the television, they pump into the universal consciousness of humanity this idea of "not enoughness." The great illusion is this: There is not enough money (this is ridiculous) there aren't enough jobs, there aren't enough beds in hospitals, there aren't enough baby care units are just a few more examples. Humanity has the means to be able to provide everything that it needs. If humanity is in a situation where they lack anything it is because the system that is in place needs to be improved. The very idea of "not enoughness" is an offence.

They have created a system which is unable to provide for everyone. The system is not meant to provide for everyone. The system is supposed to create the illusion that there is not enough. It maintains the illusion that having not enough is simply the natural way of things, and that "the system" is trying desperately to elevate the situation.

Poppycock. Humanity's geniuses' step forward to solve universal problems and then are manipulated into silence. They are prevented from explaining to those that don't understand the means by which everyone could be free to do what they wished. They actively prevent the population from growing intellectually and to some extent spiritually. In schools especially.

They are well aware that if they encouraged creative analytical critical thinking then very soon the current system would be turned upside down. They understand how powerful the human mind is. They understand that if they encourage "normal" people to think for themselves, and if the majority free thinkers were to combine their enlightened magnificent minds, then there would be a great merging. If this were to occur then in a very short period of time everything would change.

The Taba understand this and so confuse the children, they feed them information and actively prevent them from being creative. Enlightened teachers are so frustrated because they know that if they were to have their way, and were given the tools to truly guide our children's minds and help them form into the kind of minds that could change the world, they would do so. Instead they are told to simply convey information, information which has been sifted through a fine gauze. The curriculum is designed to stifle the mind.

If young minds were free the Taba would lose all control of humanity.

The developed countries prevent the rest of humanity from rising. The developed countries are used as a device to mould the rest of the world (or attempt to mould the rest of the world.) This "great work" (this is what the Taba call their agenda) controls this small section of the world's population and uses it to subjugate the rest of humanity. They would say: "well, we give the people a great standard of living." Compared to what? If humanity was not under the sway of the Taba they would be living in a situation where hundred percent of the population of the world would be free to follow their own pursuits and develop in any way they wished. The whole world would be living. Truly living. Not merely a small section of it.

The Taba live in such a way that they have too much of everything, much too much. The Taba are actually human, and are suffering, simply because they are living contrary to their nature. However, it is their goal to transform their own human nature (they believe that the human nature is a false nature.) They understand that they have the Tababacalasian nature within them and they wish to liberate it. The liberation of the Tababacalasian nature is their ultimate goal. They understand that the Tababacalasian nature is also a nature that has to be moulded and formed. They are creating their future nature. As is the rest of humanity. The nature they wish to establish in themselves is a nature which perceives itself as superior in every way. This is the structure by which they live. And they are allowed to do so. It is a Divine right to live as we please. The Supreme Being gave/gives them that freedom. They are allowed to dominate others if others choose to allow them to do so. The Supreme does not prevent people from choosing the reality they wish to live in.

Those which wish to be subjugated, that do not wish to understand that they are the masters of their destiny are given the right to feel and live the way they desire to live.

It is only through the greatest freedom that we experience the greatest growth. We have to accept that we are the masters/mistresses of our own reality.

If you hate your reality, change it.

I have just been watching "the pianist". The Jewish people suffered so much in world war two. How could they have prevented what happened? Did they just let those things happen to them? Surely it was not their fault. What could they do? What would you have them do? Stand up and fight and kill their captors? You have said that every life is Holy. That you would condone the killing of another person.

God: I would not. Neither would I condemn a person for doing such an action either. Killing a person or persons in defence of one's life or another's life is understandable. You are the ones which decide what is right and wrong. Life's circumstances are there to teach you about yourselves on the grand stage of the material realm.

All moments exist and are happening right now on some level of reality. Everything is playing itself out. The Phoenix is forged in the heart of the furnace.

I express my truth through the experience of your life. I also express my message to the human race. It is true that everyone must reap what they have sown. Each action that an individual makes is woven into the tapestry of experience. There is no greater proof that this document is true than the fact that world war two happened and caused so much suffering. The Taba manipulated world events then financed and orchestrated the German war machine. The German people were bitterly used and betrayed. Hitler was used as a tool to form the world in the image of the Taba. The Taba were aware that the human race was to enter into a new era. They desired to be the ones in firm control of the human race when it entered this new era.

Yet what one must understand is that the Taba is like a hydra. It has many heads and that each combats the other for supremacy. Each has a different idea of how to bring about their new world order. One of these hydra head's grew strong and attempted to take control over the rest of the heads.

Take notice of history, especially take notice of modern history. Look to the Nazi ideas and you will see the philosophy of the Taba. You need not look further. Much of it is there. There is much to be understood if you look through the eyes of the Phoenix.

There is a power at work which wishes to confuse and keep humanity spiritually blind. Here I draw your attention to the secret book of James. (Chapter 4:16 through to Chapter 5:3)

(16) "Be enthusiastic about the word. For the first aspect of the word is faith, and the second is love, and third is good works, and from these comes life. 17 for the word is like a grain of wheat after planting it, the farmer had faith in it. When it sprouted he loved it, for now he saw many grains instead of (18) only one. After doing the work, he was saved: he prepared the grain as food, and kept some out to be planted again.

(19) "This is also how you can acquire the kingdom of heaven. If you do not acquire it through knowledge, you will not be able to find it.

(5-1) For this reason I tell you: live soberly! do not be led astray! I have often told you all together, and I have also told you alone, James: be saved I have ordered you to follow me, and I have taught you how to act before the rulers.

(3) Take note:

I came down,

I spoke,

I was afflicted,

and I gained my crown when I saved you.

Also, Chapter 5:8 is instructive: "Listen to the word, understand knowledge, and love life. Then no one will persecute you and no one will oppress you, unless you do this to yourselves."

Also, a message to the Taba is in (chapter 6:1 through to 6:4):

1 "You miserable people! You unfortunate ones! You pretenders to truth! You falsifiers of knowledge! You (2) sinners against the Spirit! Why do you consider to listen when from the beginning you should have (3) been speaking? Why do you sleep when from the beginning you should have been awake, that the (4) kingdom of heaven might receive you? I tell you the truth: it is easier for a holy person to sink into filth, and for an enlightened person to sink into darkness, than for you to reign. Is that not true?"

You are amazing Great One.

You are amazing too. We are the same being. Love me as you love yourself. For I am you. When you love me you love yourself. Love your neighbour as yourself. For the neighbour is you. Love your enemy because your enemy is you and you are the enemy.

2012-02-13

Hello.

Hello.

I can feel your presence. My mind is a blank.

That is the best way for a mind to be. A receptive and ready mind is a delight.

Okay, thank you. It has been a long while since any communication has come.

Yes, you have had some lessons to learn and things to experience, in order for you to grow spiritually. It is worth noting that the reason you have not received information is because we have not transmitted it to you. This is why there has been such a wide gap between dates in these pages.

Yes, I see that.

We will talk with you soon. Take care and God bless.

Thank you, Jah

Yes, very nice name.

2012 –

At the Church which I go to, they exalt Jesus' name. I have a problem with that. I am going to try and answer my question as to why I have a problem with it.

Seek first to answer your own questions before you search for them elsewhere. To seek for them elsewhere you must first believe that you have not the answer already within yourself.

Sometimes it is the case that you seek the answer outside yourself simply because you do not believe that you are capable of finding the answer yourself. If you believe that you are not able, then it is this belief that drives your actions. You are unable to bring about your own will if you believe that you are not capable of doing so. Then, having concluded that you are not able, that you have not the power, you commence to pray to me for a desired result. What you believe, what you truly believe is made manifest within your reality. You are always the one which transforms reality. You not I. When you truly do not have the answer, I will bring it to you. For I am you and you are me.

So then, why should you exalt Jesus? To exalt, means to lift above others. Wait, this is not surely the way. Should it not be the case that we need to lift our own selves to Jesus' level? Surely it wasn't Jesus' desire to be exalted above his brothers and sisters. Instead was it not/is it not the case that Jesus' wishes us to come up to his level. We need not to elevate him. He has elevated himself through every goodly action that he has done. I, the great Divine has elevated him, has blessed him in every conceivable way.

Within each human being there is a Christ waiting to be born, waiting to grow and waiting to shed its golden blossom. Seek only to do that which you would like others to do for you. Would you like to be exalted by others? Then why do you believe that Jesus would like to be exalted?

05/01/2013

I have lost work. I fear that this document is an older document. One which is not entirely up to date. There is nothing that I can about this. I can only carry on the best way I can. I must believe that this has happened for a reason.

Is there is anything that you can do about this God?

Nothing is truly lost. I remember everything even if you do not. Let us carry on in the new document. We must continue or work together.

Indeed we must. It is my will to do so.

I am glad that you know that. It is only through your own will that our work can be accomplished. We will begin to write Phoenix Rising – Genesis.

Thank you Divine Father for working with me.

It is my pleasure.